Farm Tractor Drives Off Infuriated Bull as Man Is Trampled and Gored in Field Northeast of City

A FARM tractor probably saved the life of Clarence Perry, North Main st., when it served to drive off an infuriated bull which was trampling and goring Perry as he lay on the ground.

Perry was employed by Harold Holdridge, Tobias rd., northeast of Marion. He was attacked by the bull yesterday afternoon while he was working in a pasture field. According to the physician's report, he suffered several fractured ribs, a broken nose and possible internal injuries.

Carl Lemke, who was plowing in a field adjoining the one in which Perry was being trampled by the bull, unhooked his tractor from the plow and started toward the scene of action. Heading the tractor toward the enraged animal, Lemke butted it away from the prostrate man.

After a physician had made an examination of the injuries at the Holdridge residence, Perry was removed to the Marion city hospital and was later taken to his home on North Main st. Perry was attacked by the bull about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

HOOVER ENTRY IN LIMA, PERU, IS TRIUMPHAL

President-Elect Takes His Message of Goodwill to Peruvians

Lima, Peru, Dec. 5—President-elect Herbert Hoover of the United States brought his message of peace and goodwill to this ancient capital today and the response was inspiring in its nationwide cordiality. It was a triumphal entry after the eight mile automobile ride from Callao between lines of saluting cavalry.

The Hoover party rode beneath arches bearing banners with the inscriptions "Welcome Hoover, the symbol of a great people."

Mr. Hoover rode in an automobile with representatives of the Peruvian government and the United States Ambassador Alexander P. Moore.

Fires Salute

The government delegation which boarded the Maryland at her anchorage two miles off the shore was headed by Dr. Pedro Jose Rada y Gamio, president of the cabinet and foreign minister. He shook hands with Mr. Hoover, Henry P. Fletcher and other officials of the goodwill party and expressed the welcome of the republic and the president.

A shore battery fired a salute of 21 guns and hundreds of ships in the harbor cut loose with their whistles and sirens as the launch left the Maryland to bear Mr. Hoover ashore after the formalities on the deck of the warship.

In addition to the Almirante Grau, which had accompanied the Maryland down the coast from Guayaquil, Gulf cruiser the Colonel Bolognesi drew abeam of the great American man of war as she moved into the harbor to her anchorage station.

The weather was cool and clear.

Answer to Reports

Mr. Hoover announced he had accepted the offer of President Irigoyen of Argentina of an Argentine war ship to cross the Plata to Montevideo.

Nelson Brothers To Quit Jewelry Business After 36 Years' Service Here

Announce Plans for Closing Out Stock of Store Opened in April, 1892; Oldest Jewelry Establishment in City; Always at Same Location

J. W. Nelson and D. C. Nelson, proprietors of one of the city's oldest business houses and the oldest jewelry store of its kind, are [illegible] from business. Announcement of their plans for retirement was made today when they made public arrangements for placing the entire stock in their store on sale.

Unless the store is sold it is not likely that the doors will be closed for some time, however, J. W. Nelson, other member of the firm stated today.

The 36 years the Nelsons have supplied their customers with jewelry. Three generations have been patrons of the store.

The store, located at 141 East Center st., was opened in April 1892. It has remained at the same location since. The store was originally opened by M. Nelson and his two sons who now own the business. The firm then went under the name of M. Nelson & Sons. Upon the death of the father and mother of J. W. and D. C. Nelson the name of the firm was changed to Nelson Bros.

Ill health of D. C. Nelson is given as the reason for the retirement of the two brothers. During the greater part of this year Mr. Nelson has been unable to be in the store. His physician has advised him to withdraw from all business connections.

KING'S PROGRESS IS SLOW, SATISFACTORY

His Majesty Said To Have Gained Slightly in Strength

London, Dec. 5—It was learned from an authoritative source this afternoon that King George is making "slow but satisfactory progress," said the Exchange Telegraph.

Queen Mary and her daughter, Viscountess Lascelles, took their customary automobile ride in the afternoon.

Earlier in the day a bulletin stated that the king had passed a fair night.

The king was said to have gained slightly in strength as the result of better sleep.

However, anxiety over the condition of the heart persists and will not be allayed until the doctors officially announce that danger from this source is past.

The council of state appointed yesterday by the privy council at Buckingham palace will begin to function immediately, despite the fact that the Prince of Wales, one of the state councillors, will not arrive until the end of this week or early next week.

BEACH'S YACHT

Prince on Bridge of Enterprise As It Enters Harbor

Aden, Arabia, Dec. 5—The cruiser Enterprise with the Prince of Wales aboard arrived here today after its long journey from Dares Salaam, British East Africa.

The prince was standing on the bridge of the ship with the captain as the ship entered the harbor. He was in shirt sleeves, wore khaki shorts and a sun helmet. He appeared to be very much sunburned from his sojourn in Africa.

REORGANIZATION OF PARTY IS PLANNED

Raskob Will Call Meeting of Democratic Leaders After Christmas

New York, Dec. 5—Reorganization of the Democratic party with a view of capturing the presidency in 1932 is the purpose of a conference of party leaders to be called by John J. Raskob, national chairman, shortly after the Christmas holidays.

Liquidation of the $1,500,000 debt incurred in the attempt to elect Gov. Alfred E. Smith during the recent campaign and the question of whether Raskob should remain as the titular head of the party will also come up for discussion at the forthcoming conference. Prominent Democrats from all over the country, including Governor Smith are expected to attend.

SHOOTING SPEEDS PROBE OF COLLEGE BOOTLEGGING

Charlotte Hill, Va., Dec. 5—In resignation of bootlegging at the University of Virginia was spurred to renewed activity today by the fatal shooting of James K. Symmers, a freshman of Milton Point, Rye, N. Y.

Symmers was shot as he sat at a lunch counter in the Kitchen Inn, a popular student sandwich place near the campus. Henry H. Chewning, a local automobile salesman, was held in $10,000 bail today charged with the shooting.

COLEMAN DUPONT GIVES UP U. S. SENATE SEAT

Washington, Dec. 5—Senator Coleman DuPont, Republican of Delaware, has forwarded his resignation from the senate to Vice President Dawes, it was learned here today.

DuPont, elected to the senate in the Coolidge landslide of 1924, was stricken with a serious throat illness some time ago and has been unable to attend to his senatorial duties for the last two years. His illness impelled the senator to give up his seat.

CITY BECOMES POSSESSOR OF AIRPORT SITE

Transaction Finally Consummated With Filing of Deed

After approximately three months during which sites were considered and plans made and more than a month during which he dealt single handed and nothing was done, Marion finally became the owner of an airport yesterday when the last details of the transaction were completed.

Yesterday afternoon W. P. Melvin, attorney for Hal R. Long from whom the city purchased its airport, appeared at the office of the city auditor, procured the deed for the land and informed city officials that Long had obtained a clear title to the site. The deed was filed at the county recorder's office later in the afternoon.

Title Cleared Up

Although the city had completed its part in the arrangements for the purchase more than a month ago, completion of the transaction was held up pending payment of an inheritance tax by the heirs to the land from whom Long had bought the tract. With the payment of the taxes early this week, Long obtained a clear title.

Agitation for an airport was started here approximately five months ago by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. This organization interested city council in the project and after somewhat lengthy discussion decision was made to purchase a site.

The site finally purchased is one of several considered by council. At one time council took an option upon a field adjoining the site actually purchased but failed to take up the option when it was decided that the land was unsatisfactory for an airport.

Plans for Management

Although the question of regulation and management of the airport has come up in several council meetings, no definite plans for the control and upkeep have yet been made.

The problem of policing the field will probably face council in the next meeting. Possibility that the city might face damage suits if spectators were injured at the field was seen by members of council several weeks ago. The question was tabled however, when council decided that no definite plans of any sort could be made until the city actually owned the field.

CLAIMS LITTLE AID GIVEN ENFORCEMENT

Doran Charges Large Cities Falling Down, Asks for More Money

Washington, Dec. 5—New York and Maryland and the police departments of many big cities are doing little or nothing to aid dry law enforcement, Prohibition Commissioner J. M. Doran declared before the house appropriations committee in testimony made public today.

New York City, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis and Detroit were named by Dr. Doran as troublesome wet spots.

The testimony was given to the committee to aid in framing prohibition department appropriations for the fiscal year 1930. The committee in reporting the treasury supply bill recommended more than $28,000,000 for dry law enforcement in 1930, a slight increase over the present year.

A total of $13,500,000 was proposed for the bureau of prohibition as compared to $12,729,140 last year, the increase being due chiefly to the Welch salary increase bill. More than $11,000,000 was recommended for coast guard anti-smuggling activities.

New York, Maryland, Montana and Nevada are the only states without state enforcement acts, Dr. Doran pointed out to the committee. In New York the state troopers cooperate but the federal courts alone can't handle all the cases, he said.

MAY MAKE GARNER DEMOCRATIC LEADER

Election of Texan to Post Would Climax Party's Modern Tariff Policy

Washington, Dec. 5—Elevation of Rep. John N. Garner of Texas, a frank and avowed tariff protectionist, to the position of Democratic leader of the house in the next congress appeared certain today as plans were carried forward for a general revision of the Lordney-McCumber law.

His election in the opinion of many Democrats would culminate a series of history making declarations of the modern Democratic party's tariff policy.

The Texas delegation having taken the initiative by formally indorsing Garner for the position which will be vacated with the voluntary retirement of Rep. Finis Garrett, Democrat of Tennessee, Garner appeared today to have no formidable rival in the fight.

Although there have been some mutterings of opposition by Democrats who oppose the veteran Texan's tariff views he is not only slated for the leadership but is expected to retain his present status, ranking Democrat on the ways and means committee. This position not only is one of great prestige in the making of tariff bills but carries with it chairmanship of the Democratic committee on committees.

CARDINGTON BUS SERVICE STOPPED

Maag Bros. Discontinue Branch, Lack of Patronage Given as Cause

Bus service from Marion to Mt. Gilead and Cardington, operated by the Maag Bros. Transit Co. was discontinued today following receipt of official permit from the state utilities commission. As a result the only bus service from here to Cardington will be through Mt. Gilead connecting with the Mansfield Delaware route.

The trip to Cardington can also be made by taking the C. D. & M. to Delaware and then to Cardington by bus. The Mansfield Delaware line is the only bus route now serving Cardington.

Lack of patronage is given by Maag Bros. as the reason for the discontinuance. No protests were filed against the elimination of the service.

The Maag service was furnished over a route extending from Mt. Gilead, a point 17 miles east of here on the Harding highway, to Mt. Gilead and Cardington, a connection being made at that point with the Maag buses running to Galion.

Marion will continue to have bus service to Mt. Gilead on the route operated from here to Mt. Vernon by Shaff & Mason.

CALLS GUARDS

Mississippi Governor's Life Threatened After Granting Stay

Jackson, Miss., Dec. 5—Thirty members of the Mississippi National Guard, armed with machine guns and tear gas bombs, were dispatched on a secret mission by Governor Bilbo today after the chief executive had received a threat upon his life.

The governor was threatened because he stayed the execution last week of Robert Percy Lofton, convicted slayer of Police Chief J. E. Weatherly, of McComb, Miss.

It was believed that the troops were sent out on the trail of the escaped convict, who made the threat.

MAN HELD FOR FIRING SHOTS AT TRAIN CREW

"Bill" Northup, of Prospect, Jailed After Alleged Rampage Near Village

TRAIN DELAYED 2 HOURS

Gun Attack Made After Abandoned Auto Is Hit at Crossing

William "Bill" Northup, of Prospect, is in county jail today as a result of a rampage last night in which he fired a volley of shots at the crew of a northbound Hocking Valley freight train, according to accounts given county police authorities.

The train had stopped at a crossing just south of the Prospect station after it had crashed into an auto, trouble might to have been announced on the tracks. While the trainmen were removing the [illegible] mobile car from the tracks North[illegible] is said to have left his roadster a short distance away.

After starting an argument with members of the crew, Northup returned to the home and obtained a revolver. Returning to the scene of the wreck he fired two shots at the trainmen who ducked for cover. Northup then left but returned from the home but did not fire. members of the train crew report.

Delayed Two Hours

The train, according to the story told Sheriff James A. Deal and Detective Mack A. Marion police officer, was held in Prospect for nearly two hours.

Members of the train crew called Sheriff Deal after Northup had fired at them. The sheriff arrived at the scene about 1:30 o'clock in the morning, after picking up Officer Macken.

After hearing the story of the crew the officer traced Northup to his residence near the crossing. He was found fully dressed when Sheriff Deal forced him to open the door. The officers found a 32 caliber revolver from which two shots had been fired.

Northup denied any knowledge of

EASTERN OHIO MINE OUTLOOK BRIGHTER

7,000 Men Working in 26 Non-Union Pits, Secretary Says After Trip

Bridgeport, Dec. 5—Mining outlook in eastern Ohio is brighter at present than at any time since the strike of union miners started about two years ago, was the statement made here today by C. L. Cassidy, secretary of the Eastern Ohio Coal Operators association.

Cassidy, after making a tour through the mining communities in Belmont, Jefferson and Harrison counties, declared that there are now approximately 7,000 men working in the 26 non-union mines under the direction of the association. The weekly output of these mines totals approximately 210,000 tons, Cassidy declared.

Reason advanced by Cassidy for the improved conditions in the mining communities is that old miners are returning to their posts and that the thousands of imported miners are drifting away.

DR. MATTOX AGAIN HEAD OF SOCIETY

Reelected President of Marion County Physicians' Organization

Dr. S. W. Mattox was reelected president when members of the Marion County Medical society held their annual election of officers at a dinner meeting last night at Hotel Harding.

Dr. C. J. Altmaier was elected vice president and Dr. Thomas H. Sutherland, secretary-treasurer.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, Jan. 1 at the hotel.

INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC THREATENS COUNTRY

Health Service Issues Warning; 15,000 Cases Reported in Nine States

Washington, Dec. 5—The public health service today issued a warning against an influenza epidemic which threatens to sweep the country.

Dr. H. C. Williams, assistant surgeon general, declared there are 15,000 cases concentrated principally in nine states.

He advised the people to avoid crowds, shun the dirt and sleep in the fresh air.

LIGHTS OFF?

Canton May Be in Dark; Unpaid Bills Reason

Canton, Dec. 5—The possibility that Canton will spend some nights with unlighted streets loomed today when City Clerk Earl Hafer notified A. G. Moser of the Ohio Power Co. which furnishes power to the city, that henceforth all power supplied to the city will be at the company's risk.

Moser said he intended to get in touch with the company's New York office and that it was possible officials would refuse to furnish power until the city's back bills and some agreement for future service.

MY WORD! FAWNCY!

That's the way Lady George Wellesley received report over trans-Atlantic telephone that her 18-year-old sister-in-law, Lady Anne Wellesley (above), was engaged to H. R. H., the Prince of Wales. She denied the rumored betrothal and said that Lady Anne was too ill to be questioned.

PNEUMONIA FATAL TO JOHN D. SAGE

Insurance Official, Husband of Former Marion Resident, Dies in Cincinnati

John D. Sage, 61, president Cincinnati and husband of the former Miss Carmen Bliss of this city, died yesterday afternoon at the home in Avondale, Cincinnati, after an illness which developed last Wednesday. Death was attributed to pneumonia.

Mrs. Minnie Bliss, 204 Franklin st., left yesterday morning for Cincinnati when the condition of Mr. Sage, her son-in-law, became serious.

Mr. and Mrs. George Turndy, Mount Vernon ave., will leave Thursday morning for Cincinnati to attend the funeral services. Mrs. Myers is a sister of Mrs. Sage.

Suffers Relapse

Chills and fever attacked Mr. Sage last Wednesday and pneumonia developed. Two days later he began to improve but suffered a relapse Monday. Use of oxygen was resorted to yesterday morning.

Funeral services are to be held at 11 o'clock Friday morning at the Mt. Auburn Baptist church in Cincinnati with interment in Spring Grove cemetery there.

Mr. Sage, who was president of the Union Central Life Insurance Co. Cincinnati, was active in numerous business civil and social activities in that city. He first formed an acquaintance with Mrs. Sage when she was a student at the College of Music, Cincinnati. They were married at the Blaine av. home of the Bliss family, Nov. 8, 1911. He became ill on their fourteenth wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Sage Graduate Here

Mrs. Sage, who is a graduate of the Marion high school, was formerly social soloist at Epworth M. E. church.

Surviving Mr. Sage are his widow, their three children, Barbara, John Jr., and Randolph, and two sisters, Miss Allen Sage and Mrs. Frank W. Coffin. A daughter, Sylvia, preceded him in death several months ago.

19 HORSES BURNED IN RACE BARN FIRE

Winter Quarters at Fairmont Track Destroyed by Morning Blaze

Collinsville, Ill., Dec. 5—Barns at Fairmount racing track here burned down to the ground at 6 o'clock this morning, destroying 19 race horses.

The horses belonged to Watkins and Anderson of Alton and Ely to Tony Foley.

The horses were valued at at least $5,000 each. Irish Pal was one of those lost.

KELLOGG WILL EXPLAIN TREATY TO COMMITTEE

Washington, Dec. 5—Secretary of State Kellogg will appear before the senate foreign relations committee Friday morning to explain the multilateral, anti-war treaty it was announced today.

The committee [illegible] today, arranged to hear Kellogg [illegible] on getting [illegible] the treaty. Senator Borah [illegible] and Senator [illegible] [illegible] of the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

PRESENT OFFICIALS CONSIDER FUTURE

Monger To Take Post as Head of Serum Manufacturing Company

Columbus, O., Dec. 5—"To the victors belong the spoils." To the vanquished——?

While newly-appointed members of the cabinet of Gov-elect Myers Y. Cooper prepare to assume their new posts on Jan. 7, 1929 when, for the first time in years, a Republican administration will take over the guiding reins of state government, what of the retiring cabinet members who have served faithfully, through fair weather and foul, as official advisors and confreres of the Democratic gubernatorial incumbent?

What is their attitude toward the future? Will they pursue the mythical pot of gold at the foot of the political rainbow or will they retire gracefully from the public limelight, their memories solaced by the homage that once was theirs?

These and many other pertinent questions are being asked by voters throughout the state—voters who gleefully and triumphantly hailed the results of last month's election, and voters who viewed the outcome glumly and with dire prophecies for the future.

Announce Plans

Taking cognizance of this state-wide interest, International News Service queried each of the retiring department heads and herewith presents their plans, in some cases far from complete, for the days to come.

State Director of Health Dr. John E. Monger of Greenville: "I have already accepted the post of president and general manager of the United States Standard Products Co. of Chicago, a corporation which manufactures biological serums and other medical aides."

State Director of Public Welfare, John Harper of Columbus: "For the first time in six years I will have the opportunity of looking after my personal affairs. It is a relief to me to turn again to my own welfare after devoting six years time to the welfare of the state."

They're "Considering"

State Director of Agriculture Charles V. Truax, of Bucyrus, who failed in his quest of a United States senatorship: "Although I have not definitely committed myself, I am considering several propositions which have been offered me." Truax refused to divulge his political plans for the future or whether or not he intends to remain in the political arena.

State Director of Finance Wilbur Baker of Fostoria, likewise is considering several propositions for the future. He expressed the belief that he will continue his work in the financial field, probably in the accounting branch.

State Director of Commerce Earl D. Bloom plans to reenter and devote his time to his law office at Bowling Green.

State Director of Highways, Harry D. Kirk, of Defiance: "I have nothing whatever to say."

NO LOWER PRICES FOR SHOES AND LEATHER

Boston—Shoe and leather prices will go no lower for some time in the opinion of Alfred W. Donovan, president of the New England Shoe and Leather Association.

Sandals for summer wear were predicted by Arthur D. Anderson, editor of a boot and shoe trade paper.

Colors of leather for men's shoes for next spring and summer were described as shades merging from nicotine to Saratoga tan. Women's shoes will have nine shades of brown, three of blue and several shades of green.

AH, GAY COLORS!

Mere Man to Don Bright-Hued Dressing Gown

Paris—Mere man's dressing gown is more important than his dress suit today, if one can believe the smart French haberdashers who are coming out with creations which would certainly make any masculine creature as proud as any peacock.

One model which carried off the Grand Prix at the Athens Exhibition, comes in red, black and gray checked silk, with a soft grey shimmer, beautifully tailored and lined with black satin and with a black satin belt. Others come in striped silks which are especially beautiful. One in narrow stripes of black, yellow and brown with the same lovely sheen, is lined with sea-brown satin. There is also one in heavy black brocaded silk with a gray satin belt finished at the ends with ornaments of black silk braid which is equally smart.

10 PROSPECTS FOR CUT IN TAX RATES

President Coolidge Sends His Annual Budget Message to Congress

ould be an excess of expenditures er receipts, for the first time since fore the war.

Expenditures Increase

The principal difference in the estimates of today and a year ago is a the fact that the expenditure rates have increased $238,000,000, f which the postal deficit is an important item. Increase in railroad transportation rates, reduction in postal revenues, overtime pay of postal personnel and payments for carrying ocean and air mail were esponsible for the postal situation.

"Expenditures for flood control account for $16,000,000," the president said. "Public buildings under the treasury department and roads under the department of agriculture account for $26,000,000. Increases n the amounts of pensions account or $11,000,000 and increases in the ay of Federal personnel $21,000,000.

"Tax refunds show an estimated ncrease of $18,000,000 and interest 5,000,000 while the navy and shipping board expenditures account for 5,000,000. These are the major ems which enter into the increase."

The budget recommends appropriaions of $18,919,000 for the operaion of congress, an increase of absent appropriation is the $597,375,000 for the White House. $21,000 over 1929.

The largest single ordinary appropriation is the $597,375,00 for the are of the government's war-wards a increase in last year's cost of the ensus bureau of $37,000,000.

"Reduction of the public debt will set $553,037,000 and interest 0,000,000 next year, the interest st going down by $37,000,000.

Slight reductions were made in he appropriations for the agriculure, navy, labor, state and treasury departments.

French War Debt

President Coolidge called attenion to the fact that the French war pplies debt of $400,000,000 matures ug. 1. Pointing out that under the ebt Agreement this amount was nded along with the other obligaons, and that the pact becomes effective with ratification, the president, however, made a significant tatement indicating that if the greement is not ratified the United tates will anticipate immediate ayment of the $406,566,000 including interest. He said:

"The $406,566,000 due in the fiscal ar 1930 has not been included in estimate of receipts for the reason at it is still expected the agreement April 26, 1926, may be ratified ior to the maturity of these bonds. , in accordance with the terms of ch agreement, it is ratified in ason, it is recommended that it ceive the prompt ratification of the ngress of the United States.

"If he agreement is not ratified, is believed that the $406,566,000 uld be applied to the retirement of r war debt rather than treated as current receipt available for current penditures."

Appropriations Asked

President Coolidge recommended an propriation of $31,000,000 for flood ntrol during the 1930 year. If it uld develop that more funds are uired by the war department for s purpose during the year a fur r estimate will be presented.

The president described the build program as one of the most amous and extensive in peace-time tory. Exclusive of technical ldings the entire program contemtes an expenditure of $433,000,000. general purposes $290,000,000 been authorized by congress, the ir program of $118,000,000, and ditional hospitals for the Veterans reau and housing projects for forty representatives.

"For national defense the president $648,511,300 including both the y and navy." The actual expendi- for 1927 was $558,031,000. for 1928 $598,500,000 and estimated for 1929 $642,844,000. The estimated expenditure for 1930, as distinguished from appropriations estimated is $688,277,000.

Air Service

"The air interests of the government are developing in the most satisfactory manner," the president said. "The demands of this service, while large, have been adequately met. The five-year program for the army and navy is approaching completion. No revision is made in these estimates for the third year increment of the army and the fourth year increment of the navy and it is a fair assumption that at the end of 1931 the navy will have a well balanced fleet of 1,000 airplanes, while at the end of 1932 the army will be in possession of 1,800 planes in proper proportion as to types."

The president continued that the aeronautical development had not been confined to the army and navy, pointing out that the commerce department and the agriculture department are playing their parts in the developing air program as is the national advisory committee for aeronautics.

While the post office department retired from the business of carry the mails this year, there is provided for 1930 for contract air mail the sum of $14,300,000 in United States and $4,000,000 additional for foreign air mail.

"While this is not government operated service it is government supported and can properly be cited as contributing materially to air service development," President Coolidge said.

Commercial Aviation

The commerce department should have $6,427,000 to carry on its task of promoting commercial aviation, including the lighting of 4,000 miles additional miles of airways. The agriculture department is recommended for over a half million for obtaining additional weather information, fighting the boll weevil and for forest patrol. All air service appropriations total $140,631,000.

"The rapid and legitimate expansion of our air service, military and commercial, is an achievement in which we can all take pride," Mr. Coolidge said.

"Without artificial stimulation this extraordinary new factor in national defense and commerce has grown from modest and discouraging beginnings into a strong, healthy, promising national activity.

"Today we have more airplane manufactories than we have automobile factories. Today air mail lines cross the heavens in a rapidly increasing network of speed communication. Freight and passenger carrying airplanes are increasing and a growing demand is seen for airplanes for private use."

Funds Wisely Spent

Mr. Coolidge said that the history of these great and necessary project emphasizes the fact that there has been no niggardly provision for pressing government needs.

"While constructive economy has been demanded from federal administrators, these economies have not deprived essential activities of funds, but they must be conserved and made available means for important necessary purposes. Our splendid treasury is not a bottomless automatically replenishing fountain of fiscal supply, and its outflow must be eternally watched and carefully and wisely directed into proper channels."

Prohibition was not mentioned in the president's message. The budget proper showed a reduction in the appropriation as compared to this year of $90,804. Approximately $13,000,000 was appropriated for prohibition enforcement in 1929, which was $500,000 less than in 1928.

SOCIAL PLANNED

Community Club Arranges Event for Friday, Dec. 14

Plans for an entertainment and penny social Friday, Dec. 14, at Silver Street school, were made at a well-attended meeting of members of the Silver Street Community club yesterday afternoon at the school.

The program opened with singing of "America" and a song by the school. Sixth and seventh grade pupils entertained with a play, "A Gift to Santa" and youngsters of the fifth and sixth grades with a dialogue, "A Box from Aunt Jane" and with sketches from history. Mrs. George Eyre was heard in a talk.

Mrs. J. L. George, Mrs. Lloyd Huntsman, Mrs. Robert Neal and Mrs. Kenneth Aller presided at serving tables during the social hour. The next regular meeting will be held Tuesday, Jan. 1, at the school.

The Outstanding Chevrolet of Chevrolet History

-a Six in the price range of the four!

Since the announcement of The Outstanding Chevrolet of Chevrolet History, tens of thousands of people have already placed their orders for this sensational new car! Never before has any new Chevrolet ever won such tremendous public acceptance in so short a period of time!

The great new six-cylinder valve-in-head motor is an engineering masterpiece. Not only does it develop 32% more power than any previous Chevrolet motor . . . not only does it offer increased speed and faster acceleration—but it provides this amazing performance with such outstanding economy that it delivers an average of better than 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline!

A new heavier crankshaft, statically and dynamically balanced—and designed with shorter crank throws to minimize torsional strain—results in a degree of smoothness and freedom from vibration that is truly remarkable. A new automatic lubricating system carries a continuous supply of oil to the entire rocker arm mechanism—resulting in unusual quietness of operation.

A plentiful supply of gasoline is assured under all operating conditions by a new AC gasoline pump and filter. An automatic accelerating pump on the new carburetor gives faster acceleration and increased economy. And scores of other features—such as fabric camshaft gear . . . hot-spot manifold . . . high compression, non-detonating head . . . and semi-automatic spark control—contribute to every phase of performance, economy, long life and dependability.

Throughout the entire chassis is found similarly advanced design. Four long semi-elliptic shock absorber springs—set parallel to the frame and equipped with Alemite lubrication at all the shackle joints—cushion the entire upper structure against road shocks. A full ball-bearing steering mechanism, with complete lubrication at all the points of contact, results in delightful ease of control. And newly-designed 4-wheel brakes—positive in action, easy of application and noiseless in operation—provide a measure of braking control that is more than equal to the most unusual requirements.

The marvelous new bodies by Fisher are longer, lower and roomier and incorporate in all closed models an adjustable driver's seat that may be moved forward and back to suit the comfort of the driver!

Come in and learn the full and significant story of this greatest of all Chevrolets!

Because of his unswerving loyalty to his mother, a son of the late multimillionaire, Thomas Fortune Ryan, was cut off in his father's will with a set of white pearl shirt studs. That set of studs is easily the most valuable on earth, not because of the $50,000,000 they cost the beneficiary, but rather because of the manliness of the son they typify.

If Canada is correct in assuming that this country is seeking a liquor treaty under which her distillers, brewers and others may be extradited for conspiracy against our laws, even though they never set foot in this country, she is everlasting right in showing hesitation. The World's Largest Locomotive.

Within the next thirty or forty days, the largest locomotive ever constructed, an engine capable of pulling a train two miles long over a level track, will be delivered to the Northern Pacific railroad for trial on that road's mountain grades. If it stands the tests in the manner anticipated, it and others like it will be substituted for the engines now in use on the road's mountain divisions, the expectation being that it alone will handle trains which now require two engines pulling and one pushing to climb the grades.

The engine and tender, which have a combined length of 175 feet—about half the length of the average city block—weigh 1,000,000 pounds. The engine, which is of 6,000 horsepower, is so high that its smokestack is almost invisible, and its boil is mounted on its pilot. So massive are its mechanisms that not only is the reverse gear operated by steam, as is customary in large locomotives, but the throttle for regulating the flow of steam to the cylinders also is moved by steam. Two pairs of cylinders, each of which is connected to eight wheels, drive the monster, and it is equipped with auxiliary cylinders for starting.

The firebox is said to be almost the size of a small garage. It is so mammoth that, in addition to the door at the rear, there is an additional fire door on either side, which is reached by a running-board. The engineer which is stoked automatically, will consume twenty tons of coal an hour—enough fuel to heat an ordinary cottage home two winters—and will evaporate every hour 14,100 gallons of water.

It is not at all hard to understand that such locomotives as this will permit of the dispensing with two out of three engine crews on mountain divisions, but one unversed in the fuel demands of the ordinary engine is bound to wonder if there will be any great saving in an engine of its enormous coal and water consumptions, especially when the handicap of the load of coal and water it will have to carry to meet its demands is taken into consideration.

The Northern Pacific people no doubt have the answer to all these problems which the most powerful of all steam locomotives offers. Railroad people are always inclined to look before they leap in such matters. But in this day and age, when the trend is toward electricity, and especially in the light of the fact that almost the entire line of one of its chief competitors is electrically equipped, one is bound to wonder why the Northern Pacific has not gone to that power instead of taking an advance so radical in the use of steam.

Last Year's Building Operations.

Complete returns covering building operations for 1927 have been analyzed by the department of labor. Secretary James J. Davis, in his annual report for 1928, states that reports were received for 1927 from 302 cities. The total amount spent for building operations in these cities was $3,593,839,405 Of this amount, $1,961,899,529 was for new residential buildings, $1,278,541,605 for new non-residential buildings, and $353,398,271 for repairs to old buildings.

These 302 cities had a population of 43,919,581 on July 1, 1927, according to an estimate of the bureau of the census. Accommodations were provided in new buildings in these cities for 415,878 families, or at the rate of 95.4 families to each 10,000 population The per capita expenditure for all building operations was $81.83.

Reports of building permits issued have been received from 257 identical cities for each year from 1921 to 1927, inclusive. In 1921 dwelling places were provided in new buildings for 221,545 families. Of this number 68.3 per cent were housed in one-family dwellings compared with 21.1 per cent, in apartment houses. The remaining 17.3 per cent, were housed in two-family dwellings.

During 1927, however, 48.3 per cent. of the families domiciled in new buildings were provided for in new apartment houses and only 38.3 per cent. in single-family dwellings.

While the expenditure for new buildings of all kinds in these 257 cities was 17.5 per cent. lower than the amount spent during 1925, the peak year of building construction, it was 99.5 per cent. more than the 1921 expenditure. The expenditure for residential building in these cities was 103.3 per cent. more than in 1921 and for non-residential building was 93.7 per cent. greater than 1921.

The population of these 257 cities had increased fifteen per cent. during the same period according to estimates of the bureau of the census.

In 1921 the average cost of the one-family dwelling for which permits were issued in these 257 cities was $3,972 while in 1927 it was $1,830, an increase of 21.6 per cent. The average cost per family unit of apartment houses had risen in the same period from $4,010 to $4,170, an increase of only 3.8 per cent. These cost figures apply to the building only. The cost of the land is not included.

They do not purport to show the cost of building a house each year on identical plans and specifications. The figures show only what was spent on the buildings for which permits were issued in these cities.

The 1927 wholesale prices of building materials was 1.7 per cent less than the 1921 prices, while the union wage rates in the building trades was 28.5 per cent. more than the 1921 wage rates.

Summed up, it may be said that, despite the fact that the building operations of 1927 were below the peak year of 1925, the volume record is a good one compared with that of any ordinary preceding year.

The salient points are that, the marked increase in the cost of labor being considered, the construction of both dwelling and apartment houses was somewhat cheaper in 1927 than in 1921, and that there is a marked trend away from one-family dwellings to apartment houses and a slight decrease in the proportion of two-family dwellings, the figures showing an increase of fifty per cent. in apartment houses during the seven-year period and decreases of twenty per cent. in one-family dwellings and four per cent. in dwellings for the housing of two families.

In a word, ours is becoming a land of apartment-house dwellers, an outlook which is not so pleasing as it might be.

"AVAST, THERE!"

Diet Important.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

A great many persons write me about indigestion. They want to know what diet should be followed by persons who have dyspepsia. The most distressing cases are those in which there is gas formation in the stomach. This produces the distress.

Proper diet is the essential thing. It is necessary—if there is to be relief of such digestive disturbances Little can be done for those who are unwilling to make the personal sacrifices involved in the correction of the diet.

We are all creatures of habit. Many of our habits are good and some of them are bad. Whether a habit is a good habit or a bad habit, it is difficult to change it. If ill health is the consequence of a bad habit, he is a very unwise man who neglects to reform.

When it comes to food and eating, everybody is the creature of habit. In early childhood we learn to like certain foods and dislike others. Indigestion may be due to eating too much of the foods we like. Strange as it may seem, eating too little may cause it. It may be due to denying the system the good effects of certain foods which are essential to the well being of the body.

Gas formation, too, is the effect of over-eating or of an improper method of eating. It may be due to eating the wrong kind of food.

Of course I would be a very unscientific doctor if I contended for a moment that all cases of indigestion are of necessity the result of wrong eating. The truth is, indigestion may be a symptom merely. It may be a sign of chronic heart disease or chronic kidney disease. It may be associated with gall-stones or a chronic inflammation of the appendix

In every case of obstinate intestinal discomfort and, likewise, in all cases where there is a gas formation in the stomach or intestines the family physician should be visit it. He will make a careful examination. It is particularly important that this should be done if there has been loss of weight, continual pain or occasional vomiting. Your doctor will probably advise that an X-ray picture be taken.

In a simple case where the trouble is plainly due to bad eating, there are some foods which should be omitted. Eggs are particularly bad in such a case. I am a great believer in milk as a human food, but in cases of this sort it may be necessary to omit milk from the dietary.

Avoid chowders and rich soups, hash, stews with rich gravies, fried foods, pickled, corned or cured meats, salted, preserved or smoked fish, pastry, nuts and ice water.

If you find that one particular food causes distress, common sense tells you to avoid it. Common sense in eating, as a matter of fact, is the best remedy.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

S. E. Q—What do you advise for rheumatism in the knees and elbows?

A—You are probably troubled with arthritis. The teeth, tonsils, sinuses, glands, intestines and kidneys are all possible points of infection and a thorough examination would be advisable in order to determine the source of the trouble. For particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Editorial Opinion.

FLYING BY NIGHT.

Through the night sails a lone aviator. He approaches his objective, a city with a well-equipped landing field/ He picks up the lights of the town, but can not exactly locate the airdrome where he is to go to earth for rest and refueling, or for the end of his flight. He turns on a siren, operated by a wind motor, and the air throbs with its cry. Suddenly the lights of the landing field blaze forth and the lone flyer descends in security. He has in effect himself turned on the illumination, for the sound waves of his siren have actuated switches that send the electric current flowing through the lamps.

This is the latest device of a great many designed to make flying safer. It has just been tried out at Bettis field, near Pittsburgh, the test proving completely successful. A keenly sensitive "electric ear" on the ground catches the vibrations of the siren, pitched to a certain point, and floods the field with light from many lamps. The range of the siren is not yet stated, but it is to be assumed that it is sufficient to enable the aviator to get his bearings for the field in good season.

Night flying has many perils, and not the least of them is the difficulty of finding the way. The airman must steer mainly by compass, rather than by landmarks. As aviation develops commercially, for the transport of passengers and goods, there must be more distinct markings of surface points, cities, rivers, mountains, to guide the fliers in their course. The automatically illuminated landing field is one advance toward security and certainty; but there must be others to overcome the serious handicap of flight in the dark—Washington Star.

POST-THANKSGIVING THOUGHTS.

We have had our annual Thanksgiving festival. No other day of the year, save the Fourth of July, is so distinctly American in origin and spiritual significance. Few other days are so venerated and cherished by the entire people.

At heart we are a religious people, whether church communicant or freedman from creed—more kind, more honest, more charitable and more humane than were the folk of yesterday.

It is true that the spirit of the Puritan still abides among us and, unhappily, at times becomes ominously assertive; but this spirit will make no permanent headway against the formulas of the higher civilization of the present

We have grown and expanded to become the most wonderful among the nations, but we have not grown lax in the worship of the ideals of democracy. We cling to our memories of national achievement and dare to dream of a nobler national future.

On Thanksgiving day we approached a little nearer to the enduring higher life, for we were in intimate communion with the sovereign spirit of love and goodness. Hence we are happier and better for the day. Love yet will dominate the world and the lives of men. The thought encourages the spirit. It takes us away from acute contemplation of the sordid, the vulgar, the commonplace aspects of being. It lifts us toward the stars It makes us to realize that we truly are the children of Divinity.

The nation well could afford to lose many things, but the Thanksgiving festival could not be included among them.—Cincinnati Enquirer

Prayer—Lord God forgive our foolish ways for His sake.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Dec. 5—It is at the midnight services in the Bowery missions that New York's human driftwood is snagged before regeneration or oblivion. Mostly they come for the dole of bread and hot coffee or a free flop, but they must listen to the services first.

And, strangely enough, at these meetings many hopeless and world-weary derelicts are salvaged out of the turbulent stream and given their first step in complete regeneration. Mission preachers are paragons of patience. They never lose hope, although most of the trail-hitters return to old ways.

The mission is to them a material instead of spiritual haven. No other place of warmth and cheer in all the city is open to them. There is a merchant I happen to know quite well with a prosperous shop on Fifth avenue who was a dissolute down-and-outer and chronic trail hitter.

The nightly audience is composed mostly of listless men past middle age with rheumy and furtive eyes and the utterly resigned attitude of the defeated. Their expressions have the futility of those expecting nothing of life but another kick There is, too, the thick odor of unwashed bodies.

Ferocious burnt-out hulks sit glowering and sneering, yet the mission folk say they are those more often touched by the spiritual appeal. It sometimes takes years. Nearly all of the mission preachers are those who have touched bottom. They understand.

At a meeting the other night nearly half the congregation snored through the service in untroubled oblivion. Others shifted and shuffled about in the manner of those who have long since lost the power of concentration. To the visitor, it seems a thankless and hopeless task.

During a kneeling prayer a stranger bleary with booze lurched in and hiccoughed a meaningless jumble. And nothing I ever saw was so pathetically touching as the miserable outcasts standing to sing, "Washed in the Blood of the Lamb," in quivering off-key voices.

A Broadway playwright this season won a pillar of puffery in the newspapers parading around cut rate ticket agencies carrying a banner that heralded the virtues of his attraction. O, the Wind and the Rain.

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.

Professor Knipp, of the University of Illinois, has been making a little rain just to show that science can do it. His laboratory process was performed by filling a glass receptacle with air saturated with moisture almost to the point of precipitation, i. e., ready to condense into fine rain. Then he put a little smoke from a burning match into the receptacle, and lo! there was rain in the jar.

Professor Knipp did not hesitate to affirm that: "If the air over the City of New York were right at the saturation point and we wanted rain, all we would have to do would be to blow some of the city smoke into the air and we would have rain."

The reason of the thing has long been known. Sir Oliver Lodge, among others, demonstrated it. It depends upon the fact that atmospheric moisture condenses about particles of floating dust, and when these drops become massive enough they fall as rain. But this in turn depends upon the pre-existence in the atmosphere of sufficient moisture, and upon other circumstances, such as the temperature. In the laboratory experiment everything was prepared in the proper proportions, and all the elements concerned were directly under the control of the experimenter. On the scale of nature, man's interference must be relatively insignificant. Yet it is not beyond the bounds of scientific possibility that some time we may obtain a control of local weather conditions that at present would seem magical.

It is an old story, sometimes treated as a superstition and sometimes as a fact, that rain follows great battles Until the discovery of the decisive part that floating dust plays in the production of rain drops, it was supposed that the shock of gun-firing brought about the condensation of the moisture in the air; but now the alleged effect is ascribed to the smoke and dust rising over the battlefield

But always the first requirement is that there shall be sufficient moisture in the air. Except over great bodies of water this is as a rule for the greater part be brought from a distance, perhaps many hundreds of miles. The winds distribute the raw material of the rain, i. e., the invisible atmospheric vapors, whose ultimate source of origin is the ocean The wind often takes part itself in the process of rain formation, for if it lifts its burden of moisture over a mountain range the coolness of the higher air condenses the vapor into rain.

Inside of a storm there are minor winds blowing in various directions, rising, descending, whirling, and all these have their roles to play in the formation, descent and distribution of the rain, or the snow or hail. One of the most thrilling sights to the watcher of nature is the rising of the wind that foretells a storm:

"The southern wind
Doth play the trumpet to his purposes
And by his hollow whistling in the leaves
Foretells a tempest and a blustering day"
—King Henry IV.

"Came a light wind, fast hardening, forth the east,
And blackening till its might had marred the skies."
—Tristam of Lyonnesc.

The rush of the wind ahead of a summer thunderstorm, madly whirling the dust and leaves and chilling the fast darkening air, is an awful spectacle, while a meteorological skeleton of the interior of a thundercloud, charged with lightning and with hail, is surprising in the picture that it gives of the contending winds raging under the smooth white "thunderhead," that towers brilliant in the sunshine, over the cradle of rain, lightning and hail rocked in the whirling clouds beneath Even in the most ordinary rainstorm the play of the changing winds, alternately massing and scattering the falling drops or bringing them on in serried battalions, is as interesting as it is informing to watch.—Copyright, 1928, International Feature Service, Inc.

Airplane makers have learned a lesson from automobile dealers. They find a readier sale for planes when the buyer finds he can get one by paying a little down and a dollar a month for the rest of his natural life. Things look more inviting when we can keep them out of four figures. There are now about 7,000 privately-owned planes in the country. Plane production is small, but not smaller than was motor car production at the beginning And the sales methods are more advanced than original automobile sales policies. The step which we see ahead is the step that will take us from a one-plane family to a two-plane family.

Fear and age go naturally together. One past fifty—for some men the age is less than that—one hesitates to move, take up new duties, to accustom himself to a new environment. He may still have health, but the fear of age beset him. Not that this is a normal and proper attitude toward life. It is all wrong, but it is not normal. It is very important to keep the mind and body so healthy that courage will thrive within us That when new opportunity comes we shall not fear, even though it means breaking up and starting in a new field.

Congress Settles Down to Short Legislative Grind

SENATE WILL GET HEAVIEST BURDEN

Dozen Bills of Major Importance Awaiting Action in Upper House

DAM BILL PUSHED

Groups Behind Various Bills, Farm Relief, Naval and Kellogg Treaty

Washington, Dec. 5—With all preliminaries out of the way, the seventieth congress settled down today to a three months' legislative grind to be terminated by its official death next March 4.

Aside from the $4,700,000,000 of appropriation bills, which both branches of congress must approve, the burden of legislative work fell upon the senate. There a dozen bills of major importance were awaiting action while in the house, the legislative outlook was vague. After two days of conferences, leaders on both sides of the capitol were speculating more upon the question of a special session of the new congress next spring or fall than upon the probably fate of various bills.

In the senate, the Swing-Johnson Boulder Dam bill had the right of way. Three other bills held preferential positions, due to action of the Republican steering committee. These were the Caraway bill to prevent the sale of cotton and grain in future markets; the Jones bill reorganizing the prohibition service; and the Hawes bill, prohibiting shipment of convict goods into those states forbidding such sales.

All Blocs at Work

In the background, the farm bloc was working upon a new McNary-Haugen farm relief bill, devoid of the equalization fee.

The senate foreign relations committee met this morning to consider the Kellogg multi-lateral anti-war treaty.

Friends of the navy were organizing a move to get early action on the new cruiser bill. Another administration group planned a drive for enactment of the bill, providing a survey of the proposed Nicaraguan canal.

The senate steering committee will meet next week, under Senator Sackett, Republican of Kentucky, to draft a new legislative program. Sackett's committee will attempt to untangle this apparent legislative snarl.

In the house, the immigration committee met to get action on a new immigration measure, which will attempt to tighten restrictions along the Canadian and Mexican borders. The house's big legislative problem however, was the Fenn reapportionment bill, redistributing the seats of the house. The census committee will meet later in the week in a drive to get action on the bill at the present session.

Thousands of minor bills were on the calendars or under consideration in the committees of both branches. Hundreds of these will be cleared, chiefly those of a personal character, providing relief, granting pensions or permitting the erection of bridges. Most hundreds will die in committee or on the calendars.

May Be Shelved

The farm relief problem may become prominent later on but present signs indicate it will be a miracle if a relief bill is enacted. Senator McNary, Republican of Oregon, has sponsored a new measure but it must get the approval of the agriculture committee before it gets before the senate. It carried no provision for raising funds to withhold surplus crops from the market and in its present form, would come under President Coolidge's ban. It may never get out of committee.

With the session two days old, it appeared that only the Boulder Dam bill, the Caraway cotton measure, the Hawes anti-convict labor bill, the new cruiser bill, the Kellogg anti-war pact and possibly the house's reapportionment bill among the major bills would reach a final decision. The appropriation bills naturally will pass, because they are necessary to pay the bills of the government as well as, for instance, the salaries of senators and representatives.

If I Were A Man

BY JILL

I'D dress to suit my type. I wouldn't try to be a fashion plate, regardless of whether or not the styles of the moment were adapted to my own personal kind of architecture. I'd leave that blind, unswerving faithfulness to fashion for the trailers' dummies.

If I looked better in a double-breasted suit, that's the kind I'd wear, even if single-breasted ones were the favorite mode of the moment. If suits of homespun and of tweed were better adapted to my personality than those of smoother, finer fabrics, I'd choose them above all other kinds.

If colored shirts were becoming I'd stick unwaveringly to white ones. Nothing that didn't express my own particular individuality would find a place in my wardrobe just because it was being worn that season.

It is not only the women who are often slaves to fashion.

If I Were A Girl

BY JACK

I WOULDN'T talk about reducing all the time. I wouldn't expect a man to be all thrilled when I lost two pounds and all depressed when I gained the same. I wouldn't count my calories out loud, and insist on walking everywhere for exercise. I wouldn't go to dinner with a man and order a dish of lettuce and three string beans.

A man likes to eat, and he likes a girl who likes doing the same. If they don't, he can't, and that annoys him. I wouldn't undermine my disposition by starving myself to death. Lack of food makes for peevishness, and a man likes a girl sweet-tempered and charming.

I'd try to get into my head the fact that men don't really care for beauties—they prefer curves to angles and soft roundness to straight ups-and-downs. And if I really had to reduce to avoid becoming Mamie the Fat Girl, I'd keep the revolting details to myself. Otherwise, I'd stop being a martyr and let Nature have her way.

Meditations of a Married Woman

BY HELEN ROWLAND

Sauce Piquante

TO be granted a divorce for "loneliness" would seem, to many a married man, like being paid for kissing a blonde.

The ideal modern husband is one who is satisfied with a raw cereal breakfast, a cafeteria lunch and a scrambled egg dinner.

Beauty, brains and culture may make a woman charming, but most men nowadays, demand more SOLID attractions. You never know how irresistibly fascinating you are, until you let it leak out that you have come into a lot of money.

The results of American higher culture, as seen in a college town uptown to be decrepit flivvers, hot sags, wild hair, carefree socks and accidental marriages to Broadway chorines.

A man's love must be kept at just the right temperature by a woman's constant skill and care: but a woman's love is supposed to come in a thermos bottle—and nothing on earth can cool it.

A diplomat is a man who can tell a woman that her lip-rouge is on crooked and her nose needs powdering, and still leave her, under the impression that he regards her as flawlessly beautiful.

Sometimes, a widower's cold-storage affection makes a much more substantial and satisfying matrimonial diet than a young, tender, unseasoned passion.

"As long as they fight, they love each other," according to a French philosopher. Still, many a woman would find it more soothing to be loved tenderly, like a brier pipe instead of violently—like a golf ball.

There must be times when the wife of a saxophone player secretly wishes he would exchange it for a HARP!

PLAN BANQUET

Church Class Arranges for Mother and Daughter Event

Standard Bearers of the Prospect Street M. E. church held their monthly business meeting and annual Christmas exchange last night at the home of Mrs. Arthur McCullough, Woodrow av. A Christmas offering was collected.

Plans were made for a mother and daughter banquet in the church basement Monday, Jan. 7. Each member will contribute a covered dish. It was reported that 20 boxes of Christmas cards had been sold by the society.

A chapter from the study book, "A Good Will Voyage," was presented by Mrs McCullough and Mrs. Myrtle Wood. Miss Dureas McCullough assisted as hostess.

We seek in life, to become acquainted with people we admire, but many novelists think we want to know a whole group of offensive characters. What do they take us for?

A foolish man tells the world "he is as good as anybody"; a wise one doesn't waste time making comparisons.

THESE SIMPLE RULES MAKE TEETHING EASY

Be careful of Baby's diet during teething. Do not overfeed him. Watch his stomach and bowels and at the first sign of indigestion, gas or constipation, give him a few drops of harmless, pleasant-tasting Fletcher's Castoria. These simple rules are making teething easy on millions of babies—and mothers, too. For over thirty years Castoria has been the trusted standby of mothers everywhere. It soothes wakeful, cross babies to sleep quickly and easily—and it's purely vegetable so you can give it as often as needed. It does the work of castor oil better and more gently. For your protection, the bottle of genuine Castoria always bears the Fletcher signature.—Adv.

DON'T STAY FAT IN THESE DAYS

You see countless people who have gained new beauty, new health and vim, by fighting excess fat. Some have done this by abnormal exercise and diet, some in a modern, scientific way. Why not follow their example?

There is a way based on scientific research. It combats a cause of excess fat which starvation cannot fight. That method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets, now used for 20 years. Millions of boxes of them. The results you see wherever you look should induce you to accept them.

Each box of Marmola contains the formula, also the reasons for results. So there is no secret, no reason to fear harm. You will know that all the good results come in a natural way. Go learn them now, by asking your druggist for a $1 box of Marmola.

Doughnuts

a sure way to the heart of any boy or man

HAVE you ever heard of a man who didn't confess to a weakness for doughnuts—that is, of course, if they have been properly fried?

The doughnut at its best has a lovely brown outside and a tender, delicate inside—without even a hint of fatty taste. To make doughnuts like this you must fry them in a delicate fat. And if you wish to know how delicate a fat can be, taste Crisco just as you taste your milk; just as you test your eggs.

Crisco's flavor is sweet and fresh and naturally it lends this sweet freshness to the doughnuts you fry in it. Moreover, Crisco fries doughnuts, or anything else, without smoking up your sweet, clean kitchen.

Doughnuts

¾ cup sugar	2 teaspoons baking powder
1½ tablespoons Crisco	½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 egg	¼ teaspoon clove
½ cup milk	⅛ teaspoon mace
2 cups flour	½ teaspoon salt

Cream sugar and Crisco together. Add well beaten egg and milk and mix well. Mix and sift flour, baking powder, cinnamon, clove, mace and salt. Add to the first mixture and mix thoroughly. Turn out on slightly floured board and roll to ⅜ inch thickness. Cut with a doughnut cutter and fry in deep hot Crisco (340 to 375 degrees F.) until a delicate brown. Drain on unglazed paper. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar before serving.

This recipe makes 24 doughnuts.

Raised Doughnuts

¾ cup sugar	1 yeast cake
3 tablespoons Crisco	2 tablespoons lukewarm water
1 teaspoon salt	3 cups flour
1 cup scalded milk	2 eggs
	1 teaspoon nutmeg

Add sugar, Crisco and salt to the scalded milk. When lukewarm add the yeast cake mixed with warm water. Add enough flour to make a sponge (about 2 cups). Set in a warm place to rise. When light add well beaten eggs, nutmeg and enough flour to make a soft dough. Cover and let rise until double in bulk. Knead until free from large air bubbles.

Roll out on a slightly floured board to ¼ inch thickness. Cut with a doughnut cutter, cover and set in a warm place to rise again until double in bulk. Put them top side down in the deep hot Crisco (340 to 375 degrees F.). Fry on one side, turn and fry on the other side. When a delicate brown remove from fat and drain on unglazed paper. Just before serving sprinkle with confectioners' sugar.

This recipe makes 30 doughnuts.

Jelly Doughnuts

Follow recipe for Raised Doughnuts. After the second rising, roll out on a slightly floured board to ⅜ inch thickness. Cut with a cooky cutter. Put one teaspoon currant jelly in the center of one round, moisten edges with water and place another round on top. Press edges lightly together. Cover and set in a warm place to rise until double in bulk. Fry in the same way as Raised Doughnuts.

This recipe makes 24 doughnuts.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Humorous Boyhood Adventure

By JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

It must have snowed all night last night and there was not any wind so that when I opened the window to let Jubilee down it was almost as light as day from the white shining on the ground. Why Jubilee sot his head in the cold snow he almost went out of sight but he let go of the rope and I pulled it up and hustled into my britches and every thing and went down and got my stove loaded to and my cows milked and fed and the horse fed before the bunch began to come. I was down cleaning off the walks in front of Mr. Wagmore's yard when he came out on the porch and said good morning to me and asked me if it was my intention to clean the outside walks too, and I said it was. He asked me how much I wanted and I said he had always been good to me and I wanted to do it for nothing. He said he couldn't permit me to do that and because it was a corner lot and everything was going up he was going to give me a dollar for it so he did. He went back in the house where it was warm and I was working up toardst the corner and I heard someone talking around the corner of the hedge and it was Younnes and Feeble and Maggie. So I went and looked around the corner and they were all bent over looking for some hing and Feeble's back was toardst me and she was sticking way up in the air and so I swung the long handled snow shovel and landed on her so hard that she knocked the other two down and fell on her face in the snow. I was leaning on my shovel and me and Jubilee was laughing at them when they got up and looked at me, and the one I had lauded on was Younnes! I did not know what to do. Her eyes were full of tears. I offered her my dollar but she wouldn't take it. Then I asked her how come she was wearing Feeble's coat and hat, and she said Feeble asked her to, to see if they were as warm as hers and they were coming to find me to ast me if she looked as well in Feeble's clothes and Feeble dropped her armes in the snow and they were all looking for it when Younnes thought a bear fell on her. I looked at Feeble and she was looking crossyed at me, and then she opened her hand and said Oh here is my eraster, I had it all the time. So then I knew she had framed it all up on Younnes and me and I was certainly sorry. I had lit Younnes when I did and how I did—and where I did. I told her I was sorry and she said so was she. I wanted to ast her if it had stopped hurting, but I didn't dast.

The lunch was in our barn and stayed there till I got the alley shoveled done. They wanted to help me spend my dollar but I said I was saving it for Christmas. I bet I'll will be sorry she was so smart on Christmas. We shot after school.

ALWAYS DEAD TIRED?

How sad! Sallow complexion coated tongue, poor appetite bad breath pimply skin and always tired. What's wrong? You are poisoned. The bowels are clogged and liver inactive. Take this famous prescription used constantly in place of calomel by men and women for 20 years—Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. They are harmless yet very effective. A combination of vegetable ingredients and olive oil. They act easily upon the bowels free the system of poison caused by faulty elimination and tone up liver.

Be beautiful. Have rosy cheeks clear eyes and youthful energy that make a success of life. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, nightly. Know them by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60.—Adv.

Love's Awakening

The Heart Story of a Woman's Lasting Affections

BY ADELE GARRISON

[illegible] Fearful a Romance May Develop

VANITY is the last trait ... Adelina ... would be accused, but a ... of it must have stirred ... when I told her that ... awakening of all things ... a fond ... in her heart that her daughter ... smiled. I saw that I had ... the resentment which I had seen in her eyes when she learned ... I had permitted Mary ... to drive to ... ocean with Ronald Brixton ... I realized that my irritation at ... had vanished.

I knew I'm doubling for the best ... with the subject at hand, she said ... but I felt not betray that I had ... heard the whistle from her two or ... three times before. The situation ... was still a bit tense and I didn't ... wish to risk putting her temper ... down. But I reflected not for the ... first time on the unfortunate fact ... that brilliant women will be ... Fifty times when discussing the ... things near their hearts.

Business is the best ... that's true. In this big ... I gasped she went on speaking slowly ... as if to herself. I don't think that ... any I ever looked at Myron with ... love.

Love is one big ... her I retorted. Why I may ... very sure the Ronald won't be the ... only one ... for the ... ubbies. If you choose to ... there are ... have just as ... Marion will meet many girls ... with brains and a certain per ... cent of them will be interested in ... Her calling a truce if you ... don't happen to know it.

Do you think ... She was ... still for a repetition of the scene ... as if she had been an actress ... mistress of her profession.

I know it. I returned sternly.

If it had been anybody but this ... she said I would be very ... upset. But to have Sam Brixton's ... son—that is what is virtually ... for Sam Holmes both of Helena's ... children—interested in Marion and ... she in him—oh I cannot endure it. ... And they will be thrown together a ... great deal at Sunset Bay. If Caroline and she are room mates ... you know how furious ... Holmes ... hood ... Why? Maybe you don't ... know what might develop. They ... might even fancy themselves really ... in love with each other and be ... engaged!

Her tone was so horrified that I ... began my recitation to tread warily ... and to right it straight.

Your disliking another person ... and the line beckoning smoker ... I told her, and that's the little girl ... who cried because she was afraid ... she'd grow up and get married and ... have children and they'd have children ... and one of the grandchildren ... would die."

She grinned reluctantly.

"Yes, I suppose I am," she admitted. "And I realize how unpersonable I am about those Brixton children. But I can't help it. Helena caught me off guard last night or I never should have consented, even tardily to Marion's ... rooming with Carolyn up at what I've seen eighths of a mile ... change Marion's school. But of course it would be impossible to get her into any really good one at this late day."

I never had seen her so vacillating, so incompetent. That this affair of the Brixtons had robbed her of her usual poise, even of her common sense, I realized, and with sudden determination I walked over to her, took her by the shoulders and held her firmly off from me, looking steadily at her.

"You have something far more important than Marion's perfectly harmless association with Ronald and Carolyn," I said sternly. "Forget all that for awhile and fix your mind upon the fact that you have an interview with Samuel Brixton scheduled for today. Before you see him, I want to tell you some things which I have discovered about his half brother."

They've Found a Drugless Way to INSTANT SLEEP!

A Way Doctors the World Over are Advising—for New Youth, New Energy, Fewer "Nerves" Tomorrow

Please Accept 3-Day Test of This Unique Swiss Discovery That Millions Now are Using

FOR years people hoped for a drugless way of inducing sleep. A way that would bring sleep quickly when they went to bed . . . without drugs, without enervating soporifics. Today there is a way as free of drugs as the bread you eat or the milk you drink. A way that does even more than induce sleep. That re-builds your depleted tissues while you sleep. That gives you boundless new vitality the next day.

Largely on medical advice, people are flocking to its use. For a 3-day test, just use the coupon below.

Not a Medicine!

It is called Ovaltine. A delicious food-drink. The discovery of a world-noted Swiss scientist. You drink it like a hot drink. And soon you fall asleep. Next morning you wake up feeling like a new person. The peculiar [illegible] of Ovaltine [illegible] the nerves [illegible] the body [illegible] the whole system.

Working under severe mental strain, I was unable to sleep at night—felt "dragged out" daytime. Since taking Ovaltine I sleep like a top at night and am full of pep every day. WILLIAM TALLY, JR., Miami, Fla.

This, you can take it right after supper and not only avoid a habit, as with drugs, but build up your health as well.

Instead of drugging your nerves to sleep, it acts to soothe and to tone. For it corrects the digestive system, by which many sleeplessness cases are caused.

Ovaltine is one of the most important [illegible] discoveries of our [illegible] It is [illegible] Special [illegible] Vitamin [illegible] Calcium [illegible] Phosphorus and [illegible] elements. Taken at bedtime it not only for sleep—but for nerve strain, [illegible] fatigue, [illegible] constipation, [illegible] nervous, under-weight children, for nursing mothers, and the aged. Thousands take it to secure

Please accept the 3-day test, below. Note how quickly sleep comes. Mark how you feel next day for energy. Mark also differences in your whole appearance.

GREAT BRITAIN BANS WOMEN ON RADIO

None of Feminine Sex To Be Employed as Broadcasters; Voices Taboo

London Dec 5—Chalk up another failure to woman's attempt to invade man London

The British Broadcasting Co which controls radio broadcasting in this country has announced that no women shall be employed as announcers due mainly to the fact that an exhaustive series of tryouts revealed not a single woman whose voice and personality was suitable for the microphone

For a considerable time a number of women throughout England have challenged the policy of the British Broadcasting Co in employing the only male announcer except for the Children's Hour in the evening when women occasionally announce the features

Case Them Trials

As a result the B B C tried out a number of women and then issued the following statement

The B B C has recently tested a large number of women applicants for the position of announcers There are no vacancies at present either for men or women but among the women tested no suitable candidate was found This was possibly due to the limitations of the microphone and possibly to the limitations of those who were tested

In all events it is not intended to change the present policy of employing only men for the main announcements

Official Column

An official of the company explained that an announcer must have more than a good radio voice and personality He must have the executive ability to discharge heavy responsibilities at unexpected moments

He sometimes has complete charge of the studio and is forced to make quick decisions and be a good censor material

The present system of broadcasting by the B B C has recently been the target of many critics in the newspapers and from other sources

Some of the announcers are accused of throwing their weight about an English aphorism meaning to push the personalities too strongly upon the public while others have exhibited the announcers is dull and mannerless

START MOVE TO CHANGE BELGIAN NATIONAL HYMN

Brussels—Belgians around in their cafes famous Brabanconne will be modified if the Fine Arts Section of the Belgian Royal Academy carries its way

The members find that the words written by Charles Rogier are not in accord with the rhythm and spirit of the anthem and are in favor of returning to the words of Jenneval and the music of Van Campenhout authors of the original song

A man may be worth a lot of money and still be a very poor sort of man

AN NEW BRIDGE

ARIONITES who annually spend portion of their summer days Bay Beach will be interested in the agreement that a third bridge is to be built across Sandusky Bay on Erie.

The third bridge—the other two the New York Central Railroad and the new toll bridge now under completion between the Sandusky side and the Danbury sides of the bay—will run from Sandusky proper to Cedar Point.

This third bridge is to be constructed by the Boeckling company, operators of Cedar Point, famous Ohio resort.

At the present time access to the resort is either by the ferry or by the automobile road which leads into the resort from the Sandusky-Cleveland rd.

Upon completion of the span, which is to be started next summer, the present roadway to the resort will be closed to all but home owners and occupants and tourist traffic will be routed across the new bridge.

The span now being constructed across the bay to Danbury is rapidly nearing completion after two years of work. Present indications are that it will be opened to auto traffic early next spring. Highway mileage between Sandusky and Toledo will be reduced 25 miles by the bridge.

OUT-OF-DATE

EVIDENTLY they have hopes of electing their favorite 1928 candidate in four years, two years, etc., or else it's their first tire cover. Any number of the motorists of the city are still decorating their spare tires with covers inuding a favorite candidate. Must think they'll be too tired at next election to drape the family car's fifth tire, or else they haven't washed it in the last month and don't know that the "real painting" is still there.

TAKING CHANCES

IT isn't always the motorist who takes the risk in "picking up" a passenger along a highway, sometimes the one "bumming" is in even greater danger, according to one of the college students who travels by the ultra-modern method.

Leaving Marion one morning not long ago the college student was picked up by a woman traveler in a sedan. Conversation centered largely on travel and everything was progressing beautifully when the woman driver said, "You know it's a funny thing—I've had more accidents on this road than any other. In fact the last time I came this way I went into the ditch and I believe it was the time before when we turned completely over."

The journey, however, was made safely, or was up to the point when the college student reached his destination.

SURE DELIVERY

AFTER all, perhaps this early advertising of the slogan, "Do Your Christmas Shopping and Mailing Early," has registered with the people. Monday morning the local postoffice received an attractively wrapped gift, done up in green paper, and decorated with gold stars, addressed to Dayton, 100 miles from here. Nothing like mailing early no matter how close the point of destination may be—it is certain to get there intact and on time.

A DOG-GONE TRADE

NOT long ago two Marion men met. One had a gallon of whisky and a desire to own a good rabbit dog. The other had a rabbit dog and a desire to own a gallon of whisky.

The result was that the whisky and the dog figured in a trade. Both men apparently were satisfied with the dicker. The one tucked the gallon jug under his arm and started homeward. The other whistled to the pup and started in the opposite direction.

Up to this point everything was all right. The man with the jug ambled along with a sprightly step, happily contemplating a quiet evening with his favorite pastime. The man with the dog cast an eye skyward and concluded that the next day would be a good time to test the rabbit chasing ability of his new possession.

The toot of an automobile horn and two short yaps from the dog rudely cut short his dreams. When peace and quiet was restored to the scene the dog that had been traded for a gallon of whisky lay stretched out in the road. His hunting days were over.

Now the hunter is wondering if a dead dog is worth a gallon of whisky.

GIRL NEAR DEATH

Result of Burns Received When She is Pinned Under Auto

Logan, Dec. 5—Miss Leona Summers, 20, lay at the point of death in Cherrington hospital here today suffering from severe burns received when she was pinned beneath an automobile which burst into flame after it swerved from the road and overturned into a ditch near here last night.

Nathan Summers, her father, who sustained painful burns and a broken collar bone managed to free himself from the wreck but his efforts to drag his daughter from the burning automobile were futile and she was probably fatally burned before a passing motorist helped the father release her.

Three sisters of the girl who were in the car escaped with minor injuries.

IN HEADLINES

From obscurity to headlines in one party—that's the record of beautiful Patsy Ruth Keyes—blonde Chicago model who was subpoenaed by New York authorities to tell what she knew about events which preceded killing of Arnold Rothstein the gambler. She told of drinking with several men in room in which Rothstein was later "put on the spot."

POOR DANNY

Record Set In Columbus Court, Not One License Sought

COLUMBUS, Dec. 5 — Dan Cupid, ever optimistic, wiped the salty tears from his eyes as he perched on the steps of Franklin county probate court today and hoped he'd do better than he did yesterday.

Nary a marriage license was issued yesterday, a record for recent years, while eight applications were made in common pleas court for divorces and three divorce decrees were granted.

PLAN BIG LIGHTS FOR NIGHT FOOTBALL GAME

Chicago—Sixty thousand watts will be used to light the immense football field where Notre Dame and Drake will play a night game of football next season.

The contest is scheduled November 9, 1929, in Soldier Field, where Jack Dempsey was defeated by Gene Tunney, heavyweight boxing champion.

73 YEAR OLD MAN HAD SUFFERED FOR FIFTH OF CENTURY

Konjola Gave Quick and Lasting Relief from Stomach Trouble After All Else Had Failed

MR. J. E. COX

From thousands of happy hearts, young and old alike, come words of gratitude and praise for Konjola, the new medicine that banished pain and disease when all else had failed. Imagine the joy of Mr. J. E. Cox, 732 Broadway, Washington Court House, Ohio when he writes:

"When one medicine can end twenty years of suffering for a person at the age of 73, you'd know that medicine has exceptional merit, and that is exactly what Konjola has done for me. Stomach trouble was the worst of my worries, bringing on gas bloating, indigestion pains and their companion sensations. Constipation made everything a great deal worse and this constant suffering made life almost unbearable.

"One day I read of Konjola relieving a neighbor of mine, who suffered with his stomach about the same as me. Right then I made up my mind to try this medicine. What a blessing it turned out to be, for now, regardless what I had always suffered. All my health miseries are gone and life has a brighter outlook. Even my work has become a pleasure. Indeed, I will always be glad to tell others about Konjola."

Konjola is different from any other known remedy in this section. It gets to the cause of the trouble, removing from internal organs the poisonous matter that causes the suffering. Konjola is a purely vegetable medicine, made from the juices of 15 different roots, herbs and barks, combined with the mineral waters of Konjola Lake. Konjola is sold in Marion at Thiebaut & Mautz Bro., in Waldo at Waldo Pharmacy, in Prospect at Prospect Pharmacy, in Caledonia at Caledonia Pharmacy, in Morral at Morral Pharmacy, in Bucyrus at Bucyrus Pharmacy, in Galion at Galion Pharmacy, in Crestline at Crestline Pharmacy, in Ashley at Ashley Pharmacy, in Delaware at Delaware Pharmacy, in Sunbury at Sunbury Pharmacy, in Mt. Gay Colors Once in Trees Now in Show Windows; Birds Still Found

BY PROF. ALLEN C. CONGER
Department of Zoology, Ohio Wesleyan University

DECEMBER—and a dying year. The gay colors which painted the autumn landscape now blaze forth in holiday wares in shop windows. The fence rows which gleamed with bright bittersweet are long since robbed of color. The fallen leaves have dulled to brown; the woodlands are bare except where oaks still hold their foliage; the fields seem lifeless and forsaken. As we look across a bleak December landscape we may well ask "What can a bird lover find of interest in such a season?" The answer will depend upon our own cunning in discovering the sheltered spots which birds now seek and which offer them both protection from storm and food in plenty.

It so happens that rather definite information is available as to the December bird population of many localities in Ohio. For years past a Christmas bird census has been taken by observers for Bird Lore, the official organ of the Audubon Society. The lists which are reported seem almost unbelievable until one spends a day in an intensive search for birds at this season. Then only can one realize how many species are still with us, though in reduced numbers and less conspicuous locations. Quite naturally the longer lists come from southern counties, but in more northern sections the reduced number of over-wintering species is partially compensated by the greater assurance of finding more northern species which have come down to our latitude.

Quail Still Here

Where there is open water some of the ducks will be found. Look for the slender-billed fish ducks, especially the American Merganser. A few Mallards and Black Ducks and some Golden-eyes are most likely to be identified on our inland waters. The Quail (Bobwhite) is of course here and Ring-necked Pheasants have become fairly common in many parts of the state. In all except the northern third of the state we can find Mourning Doves, sometimes in flocks of hundreds of birds. Our representation of birds of prey depends much upon weather. Certainly at no season will we be without several species of hawks. In central Ohio we find the Marsh Hawk, a few Red-tailed and Red-shouldered Hawks, many Sparrow Hawks and not infrequently the three feathered scourges, the Goshawk, the Cooper and the Sharp-shinned Hawks.

Screen Owls are permanent residents and fairly common and occasionally a Barred Owl or a Great Horned Owl will be found. The Barn Owl is locally present, nesting and roosting, together with pigeons in the attic above the office where these notes are being written.

Here Year Around

The Downy Woodpecker and its larger cousin the Hairy Woodpecker, are with us the year round and are not hard to find. Some Red-headed Woodpeckers are likely to stay, especially in years when acorns or beechnuts are abundant. An occasional Red-bellied Woodpecker may tarry with us and even the Flicker, with his love of ants, is sometimes induced to stay, although he must of course forego his favorite diet. Crows and Blue Jays are not daunted by snow and cold and the newly-arrived Starling seems little inclined to migrate. A few Bronzed Grackles and an occasional Meadowlark may be added to our list.

Out in the wind-swept fields we must now seek Horned Larks. Keen eyes are needed to find them against bare ground, although they are really now more numerous than in late spring or summer. The Sparrow tribe is here in force, where weedy fields or fence rows offer shelter and seeds. Quite the most common of our bird population are the flocks of Tree Sparrows and Juncos, both of them visitors from far north of this latitude. Song Sparrows are also very common, perhaps the most numerous of native birds. The brilliant Cardinal adds a needed dash of color to our December list.

Remember Winter Wren

Do not overlook the tiny mouselike Winter Wren which creeps so quietly about brushy tangles. Strange as it may seem, the more southern Carolina Wren stays here in winter while the House Wren abandons the region at the approach of cold. Wintry weather never seems too rough for the three gleaners. Up the trunks Brown Creepers wind their never-ending spirals and the nasal "yank" of the White-breasted Nuthatch is a familiar sound in December woodlands. Up among the bare twigs of the thicket, silhouetted against the sky, the Chickadee and his cousin, the Tufted Titmouse are seen searching for insect eggs and that tiny mite of a feathered creature, the Golden-crowned Kinglet joins them in their incessant search.

Add now to the species named above the unexpected discoveries of the season. In the northern counties these may include the American Crossbill, Pine Siskin, Snow Bunting, Lapland Longspur and Northern Shrike. In the southern half of the state our list will be augmented by the addition of many migratory species represented by straggling individuals which for some reason have lagged behind to test the rigors of an Ohio winter.

As we tear December's page from our bird calendar a New Year awaits us and Nature prepares again to send to bird lovers a feathered pageant throughout another twelve month.

SLATER GETS INTO BELLEFONTAINE CASE

Cincinnati Detective To Investigate Death of Girl; Note Basis of Inquiry

Bellefontaine, Dec. 5—Ora Slater, Cincinnati detective whose work in solving the Don Mellett, Jake Nesbitt and Leo Halletman murder cases has made him a figure feared by the Ohio underworld, today took active charge of the investigation into the death of Mary Marie Downey, pretty 19-year-old girl, whose body was found Nov. 21 in an abandoned stone quarry here.

Slater's entry into the case, for which an official verdict of "suicide" has been rendered by Coroner R. A. Van Vleck of Logan county, comes as a result of the girl's family expressing disagreement with that verdict.

The girl was found lying in the quarry with a discharged .32 calibre revolver clutched in her left hand. No bullet holes in her clothing or wounds in her body was found in an autopsy conducted by Hardin County Coroner R. G. Shultz, and Dr. D. C. Fox, it was said.

"If she shot herself, where is the bullet?" was the only comment of Slater who refused to divulge what course his investigation would take.

A note purporting to be in the girl's handwriting and found at the home of Clifford Ward, her employer home of Clifford Ward, her employer, is said to be the basis for the investigation. The girl's mother declared today the note was not written in the rather cramped script of her daughter and said she feared foul play.

"If she did not write that note, then she was murdered," Slater said today.

DRY AGENTS PROBE TOLEDO SITUATION

Lucas County Court Records To Be Investigated Following Laxity Report

Toledo, Dec. 5—Delving into reports that the bootlegger situation here has become a statewide "joke," W. L. Lewis and C. H. Huffman, state prohibition inspectors, today began an investigation into records of dry law violations in Lucas county courts "in order to determine the truth of reports that violators had been released from jail without paying their fines."

Following a conference with B. F. McDonald, state prohibition commissioner at Columbus, during which they protested that men they had taken into custody were soon liberated and expressed the desire to see such practices curbed, the inspectors returned here and announced the opening of their probe.

Lewis indicated he was not implying there was any evidence of crookedness on the part of county officials but that he was determined to trace the source of alleged leniency which has been destroying the effect of prohibition inspectors' work here and cited one case in which a three-time violator was fined $300 and released from jail when he promised to pay $4 monthly on the fine.

CONDITION UNCHANGED

No change is reported in the condition of Mrs. Ann Caskey, of Caledonia, who sustained a broken hip when she fell two weeks ago at the home of her son, Delphous Caskey, south of Bellmark. Mrs. Caskey is the mother of Mrs. J. R. Winters, of the Rapid Uncapher pk.

Successful beyond any new car record

The field of low-priced sixes this year has been the scene of a rare and significant development.

Upon the announcement of the new Chrysler-built De Soto Six, public interest instantly swung towards this newcomer, appraised it for what it is—the outstanding value in its price class—and then quickly confirmed that judgment with a buying wave which gains new impetus week by week.

In the history of the industry, there is nothing to approach the immediate and overwhelming success of the De Soto Six.

Such success is never won by accident—it comes, as in the case of the De Soto Six, as the reward of unusual and conspicuous achievement.

NOVEMBER STINGY WITH CLEAR DAYS

Only Three Absolutely Cloudless Here During Month, Record Shows

all in all, and everything considered ...on was lucky when it came to ...ember weather this year records ...e local bureau office show In ... way, that is, except in the num... of clear days, which didn't reach ... United States weather bureau's ...e or 10 days by a sample count ...ven Only three clear days all ...th Seventeen days were down ... cloudy and the 10 that should have been clear, were partly cloudy

Since around 1894 the maximum temperature for November has been hovering around 70 degrees in Marion the records show The minimum, however, has been more variable In 1899 it was as low as nine degrees, which people thought was decidedly cold, but which in 1903 they remembered as a warm day, when the low thermometer fell to nine degrees above zero This year, 18 degrees above zero was the coldest day registered in November Last year the low was 24 degrees and the high 75, five degrees warmer than this year

Snow must be reckoned with in the weather reports from now on too The average snowfall for November is one inch but the city revelled in an inch and a half of fluffy flakes this year

The heaviest snowfall yet recorded for November came in 1914 covering the city to a depth of 13 inches.

BEETHAM'S REACTION TO OFFER AWAITED

Cooper Would Give State Prohibition Post to Cadiz Man

Columbus Dec 5—Governor-elect Myers Y Cooper today awaited at Republican state headquarters here on the reaction of Rupert B Leetham Cadiz to whom he proffered the post of state prohibition commissioner last night

Cooper came here late yesterday to confront, for the first time the hordes of office seekers who have been storming his party's headquarters He plans to remain here until tomorrow noon when he will absent himself from the capital for a week

Before leaving tomorrow for Cincinnati Washington and New York Cooper is expected to announce further selections of cabinet members including, probably Robert N Wand and Col Arthur W Reynolds both of Columbus as highway director and adjutant general respectively and Charles D Spencer Steubenville, as director of public welfare

Dr Harry L Lockwood Cleveland health commissioner is slated for the post of state health director if he accepts the position offered him by Cooper thus leaving only one cabinet appointment—that of director of industrial relations — undecided Cooper has not indicated his probable choice for the last named post

LARGEST ORDER FOR AIRPLANES RECEIVED

Aviation Service and Transport Co Buys 50 Ships in Carload Deliveries

Chicago Dec 5—The largest individual order for airplanes since the opening of the National Aeronautical exposition at the Chicago coliseum was on file here today It calls for 50 planes priced at $150 000

The Aviation Service and Transport Co of Chicago placed the record order with the Command Aire Aircraft Co of Little Rock Ark The planes will be delivered at the rate of a carload a month until completion of the order

Dealers and manufacturers displaying planes and accessories at the show today voiced optimistic views over the results of the unique exposition Few big deals have been consummated, it was said but prospective buyers have been plentiful.

To eliminate gypsy flying schools and the virtual slaughter of youthful enthusiasts the flying schools' committee of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce yesterday voted to form a permanent organization to establish requirements.

Phil Love of St Louis nationally known pilot, was elected head of the permanent committee on schools Six regional operators representing widely separated sections of the country, will work with him

Col Paul Henderson of Washington was elected president of the American Air Transport association at its annual meeting held here in conjunction with the show.

G M Bellanca designer of the plane used by Clarence Chamberlain and Charles Levine in crossing the Atlantic, was to be a featured guest at the exposition today. His latest plane a CH 6-passenger monoplane, is among the exhibits.

YOUNG FLIER DOWN

Propellor of Plane Broken, Youth Is Stranded Near Mercer, Pa.

Mercer, Pa., Dec. 5—With the propellor of his plane broken Richard E. James 17-year-old solo pilot who is attempting to be the first youth under 21 years of age to complete a transcontinental flight, was stranded at a farm house two miles from here today where he was forced to land by bad weather.

Efforts were made early this morning to rush a new propellor to James' plane where it is resting in a farm pasture.

Martin Jenson, piloting a plane carrying Forest James, father of the youthful aviator, arrived at the Clarion airport last night from Bellefonte and proceeded here to young James' assistance.

Society Wakes Up to Find Daughter of English Peer Behind Shop Counter

NEW YORK, Dec. 5—Society still was gasping today over the revelation that until yesterday the daughter of one of England's richest and best known peers had been working as a shop girl in a local department store at the queenly salary of $25 a week.

The girl is Lady Doris Hope, attractive 20-year-old daughter of Francis, duke of Newcastle.

The duke of Newcastle formerly owned the famous and ill-starred Hope diamond which legend has brought nothing but woe to its possessors since Marie Antoinette gave it to one of her friends a short time before she was led to the guillotine.

Lady Hope was discovered behind the counter of a Fifth av store yesterday and today finds her in hiding at the home of Mrs. Frederick Brooke, wealthy society woman of Washington, her adventure over.

Two months ago she arrived from England accompanied by Miss Leonora Highet, her chum, and went to the Frederick Brooke's summer home at Buzzard bay. She tired of the endless round of social affairs after a few weeks and together with Miss Highet determined to see New York from the "inside," she said.

The two girls rented a $55 a month apartment in Greenwich village, and then started a search for jobs just like countless ambitious favored girls do when they find themselves alone in New York. Lady Doris, of a radiant personality, had little trouble getting a $25 a week sales girl position while Miss Highet was given a position as interior decorator at $30 a week.

Makes Any Man A Real Sheik

You can't attract the girls with a beard that makes you look like a coal heaver and that feels like sandpaper. Here's a good tip. There's a new and different saving cream that works like a charm. Makes a thick wonderfully cool lather. Softens any beard instantly. Cuts shaving time in half, saves blades. Leaves your face soft and smooth because it's made like your sweetie's beauty cream. Ask for KEEN Shaving Kreem today. Money back if not delighted. If unable to get at druggist, send 50c to Gledsner Co., Findlay, Ohio, Desk 3.—Adv.

Tunney's story proves this

EVERYONE knows the story of Gene Tunney How he fought his way up, until at 30 he has retired, undisputed heavy weight champion of the world, possessed of fortune, title and position

From the very beginning of his career Tunney never once let himself get out of condition, even for a short time He made sure of that by taking Nujol as a regular part of training

"I started taking Nujol internally seven years ago The first month Nujol brought remarkable changes in my physical condition My elimination became active and normal My appetite increased and a desire for intensive training was created Since that time I have taken Nujol about two nights a week I have regulated myself to the amount necessary to keep my elimination normal If I discover that I have taken an excess I stop its use for a couple of days, when I renew my daily practice of taking a swallow from the bottle before retiring

"I have found during my seven years' experience with Nujol that it is not habit forming, or in any way unpleasant or harmful"

Tunney is equally enthusiastic about Nujol as an external rub He had his trainer use it on him regularly

Nujol contains no medicine or drugs It is simply a pure mineral substance perfected by the Nujol laboratories

"THE WILD DUCK" IS LESSON TO CRITICS

Ibsen Hunting Season Gets Under Way, Correspondent Reports

BY DAVID P. SENTNER
(Copyright by International News Service, 1928)

New York, Dec. 5—Bessie Bebb, the sweetest girl in town, thinks Ibsen is a vegetable.

It is not a vegetable, Bessie, it is a game and the Ibsen hunting season is underway along Make Believe Alley, "The Wild Duck" being the latest for critics to shoot at.

It is a most serious game, Bessie. It provides diversion from bedroom upholstery, suitcase from stage machine gunfire and an opportunity to display a continental background as well as an excuse to discuss what a character was meant to be by the great playwright. This last is the safest department of drama critics in as much as Ibsen is safely dead.

"The Wild Duck" is verily a lesson to all brands of critics. It points out the grievious harm that mixing in other people's lives may cause. Also Ibsen suggests that we all must have illusions and are entitled to such. Remove these illusions and the world topples about our heads like a load of bricks.

Gina (Blanche Yurka)) is a domestic down to her wooden heart. She is the practical one. If she had been Noah's wife when the Big Flood broke she would have seen that he had taken his rubbers with him. Or that is the way I believe Ibsen intended her to seem.

But Miss Yurka adds to Gina's character. Perhaps for the better. She suggests that this domestic is capable of a soul. From her placid, sing-song, bovine every-dayness Gina rises to great moments and so does Miss Yurka.

Gregers Werle (Ralph Roeder) is the meddler insistent. He is a misguided Utopian, stabbing to death bubbles of happiness with his truth-pointed tongue.

The Werle of the Actors Theater is a thinker. He suggests the mystical, the philosophical, the ethical.

The Werle of the Ibsen test is a bit of fraud, a bit of a dreamer and several tid-bits of a jackass with his brain in the tips of his elongated ears.

If it were up to me, I would take all the Werle's in the world and make them stand on their heads in the corner without their bread and butter.

Much New York gold has been spent on the glittering production called "Rainbow" vividly depicting the California gold rush.

Lawrence Stallings, who taught Broadway to swear out loud in his "What Price Glory," contributes a genuine plot with the assistance of Oscar Hammerstein. Vincent Youmans has written some lilting tunes.

The best of these, which would make a salt seller shake pepper and like it, is "I Want a Man," sung and resung by Miss Libby Holman. She has a voice, face and figure that you just can't forget. Although the song is reminiscent of Helen Morgan of "Show Boat" fame, it is none the less effective.

Louise Brown, as the Colonel's daughter, is a pretty thing. Even in a voluminous green velvet riding habit and boots of the period when women walked like that, Louise thoroughly convinced me that she can dance.

Her costumes are many and beautiful. I believe it would take one of those covered wagons to carry Miss Brown's costumes over the California trail.

Most of the fun is provided by Charles Ruggles as Nasty Howell, the male shimmer. His lines are as raw as a manicured onion in spots but he himself is funny.

Fanny, his mule, should come in for her blue ribbon. Her stage appearance is short but snappy.

I consider Fanny a darn good actress. She shook her head in exactly the right spot.

Ritzy Rosalie

ROSALIE does like to discover new vanities and this one is quite different. She will not break her fingernails trying to open this one for at the pressure of a tiny button on the side it slides open and the mirror flips up. It contains powder, rouge and lip paste and the case is enameled in the modernistic spirit. Her shoulder flowers are matched by a bracelet of smaller posies.

AUTO DEAL RESULTS IN SECOND LAWSUIT

Utah Concern Seeks $1,300 Judgment for Attachment of Machine

A case concerning the attachment of a Lincoln automobile which was heard in common pleas court last July reappeared in court yesterday when the Wattis-Kimball Motor Co. filed suit for judgment of $1,300 against Emma K. Aikin and the United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co.

The motor company, located in Utah, claims that it was damaged to the extent of $1,000 when Mrs. Aikin attached the car last summer. The company also asks $300 for attorney fees and other expenses involved in the case.

According to the petition the common pleas court here held last July that the attachment was not valid. The suit is the outgrowth of an automobile trade between the Utah motor company and William J. Koch, a minor for whom Mrs. Aikin is guardian.

The motor car company is represented by Attorneys J. D. Williamson and William P. Maloney.

Answer Filed

The Graham-Herstein Corp. has filed answer and cross petition in common pleas court to the suit for foreclosure of the American Building & Loan Co. against Paul S. Beringer et al Donna Ruth Beringer. Attorney Edward C. King represents the Graham-Herstein Corp.

ERPRODUCTION IS OTTON'S HANDICAP

tile Corporation Head Feels Hopeful, However; Reviews Situation

BY W. S. COUSINS
Copyright 1928, by I. N. S.)
w York, Dec. 5—"Overproduc- of cotton, goods has been the test single handicap of the tex- tile industry in the last two or three years, but with aggressive and intelligent handling that problem is gradually being solved and a new era of prosperity for textiles is just around the corner."

Frederick K. Rupprecht, chairman of the board and president of the Consolidated Textile Corp. and the Consolidated Selling Corp., one of the best known textile experts in America, felt quite hopeful over the outlook as he reviewed the situation in an interview.

"There is a 25 per cent overproduction in cotton textiles at this time, which has had an adverse effect upon market prices of the goods and the earnings of the textile manufacturers," said Rupprecht. The industry, he points out, has tackled the problem from two angles, the intelligent reduction of mill output of cotton goods and the scientific study of possible new avenues of consumption for all grades of cotton cloth.

Not So Profitable

"Up to the present time, the morning of the New England mills to the southern districts has not been as profitable as expected," Rupprecht declared. Operations in the new territory have uncovered a number of unexpected handicaps which have made it difficult to operate at a profit. On the other hand, the comeback of the New England textile mills, after the disastrous strike at Fall River has been an important factor in the revival of the industry.

"Partly through the organized effort of the cotton textile institute and partly through voluntary readjustments of mill output, etc., the textile industry has succeeded in narrowing the gap between production and consumption of cotton textiles, and further progress along this line will be of the greatest benefit to all of the manufacturing and distributing houses," said Rupprecht.

Charles O. Nash was chosen chief patriarch of Mizpah Encampment, No. 50, I. O. O. F., when the organization held its semi-annual election of officers, last night.

Other officers elected are: George Laughman, high priest; Jesse Woods, senior warden; L. F. Baller, junior warden; T. E. Bolander, recording scribe; R. G. Williamson, financial scribe; George Hageman, treasurer; R. G. Smallwood, trustee for three years; George D. Wilson, musician.

Installation will take place at a meeting in January, the date to be set later.

HELPFUL AUTOIST POORLY REWARDED

Richwood Man's Dinner Pail Taken by Trio He Aids, Sheriff Is Told

Three "meanest thieves" were discovered this morning by Harry Diller, of Richwood, while he was on his way to work at the Pollack Steel Co. plant here.

Near Newman's this morning Diller saw three men in a Ford coupe. Evidently they were in trouble. When Diller offered aid they told him their car was out of gasoline. Hitching his machine to the coupe Diller towed the three into Marion.

While Diller was playing the good samaritan, one of the men, according to his story to Sheriff James A. Deal, stole his dinner pail.

A check of the license number on the coupe given to Sheriff Deal revealed that the tags were issued at Richwood. The men in the car told Diller that they were employed by the Marion Steam Shovel Co.

Kenton Allowed $40,000 for Operating Expenses in 1929

COUNCIL TO PASS ON APPROPRIATION

Ordinance To Be Shaped by Finance Committee This Week

DISCUSS JUNK YARDS

Action Urged Regarding Maintenance of Places in Residence District

Kenton, Oct. 5—Hereafter all instructions authorized by city council must be submitted in writing as the result of action taken by the legislative body here last night.

Special blanks are to be prepared and on these will be written any requests the council desires to make of any head of city departments, whether it pertains to the city solicitor, safety and service director, city clerk or any other official.

By this method the legislators hope to maintain a check on whatever request they might issue and the action taken thereon.

Urge Action

During the coming week the annual appropriation ordinance covering the period of 1929 is to be shaped by the council finance committee, headed by Chairman John Hogan, and other department heads, and prepared for passage Dec. 18. Approximately $40,000 has been allowed the city for operating expenses for the year. Other members of the finance committee are Councilman Grover Chamberlain and Councilman Hamge

Considerable discussion was given over by council to the establishment and maintenance of junk yards within residential districts. "Much opposition to such yards existing in close proximity of residences is being heard," the councilmen reported in urging that some action be taken regarding the matter.

CLUB WILL SING

Galion High School Group on P. T. A. Program

Galion, Dec. 5—The Junior High School Glee club will present a Christmas program at the meeting of the Parent-Teachers association of the West school next Tuesday night in the school auditorium. The affair will be given under the direction of Mrs. Aurelia Meuser, grade music supervisor, and will consist of a group of chorus numbers and a Christmas playlet depicting the genuine Yuletide spirit and featuring the old time carols.

Several other numbers will be given and a social affair is planned at the close of the program for the last meeting in 1928.

Country people seldom complain of the street car service in the city. It seems pretty good to a man where the bus passes twice a day.

Stomach Signals; Read Them Right

PROBABLY that belching after eating is nothing more than the sign of excessive gastric acid. It is well to know how easily this may always be remedied. Quick and complete relief can be obtained by taking a little "Pape's Diapepsin" after eating or when pain is felt. So remember this for your comfort, and that constant gas on the stomach does not drift into gastritis!

"Pape's Diapepsin" instantly neutralizes the excess stomach acid and soothes, heals and strengthens the inflamed stomach lining, promoting normal, painless digestion and thus helping to prevent future trouble.

For many years millions have used and recommended "Pape's Diapepsin" for the speedy and sure relief of indigestion and allied stomach troubles. Follow their example! Get a 60-cent package of "Pape's Diapepsin" from any druggist; no matter how severe your stomach troubles you will get relief.

D. D. PARROTT IS YOUNGEST DEPUTY

MARYSVILLE, Dec. 5—Donald Parrott, 21, one of five sons of Mr. and Mrs. William Parrott, Magnetic Springs, all members of the K. of P. order, is thought to be the youngest K. of P. deputy in the state. Mr. Parrott was taken into the order when he was 18, has passed through all the chairs, and was recently appointed county deputy. He is a graduate of the Magnetic Springs high school of the class of 1927.

MARYSVILLE TEAMS TO OPEN SEASON

Will Meet Kenton Players in First Tilt of Basketball Series

Marysville, Dec. 5—Launching into a rough and lengthy season of basketball, Marysville high school basketeers will meet Kenton loop stars here Friday night on the Company C armory floor. Kenton girls will play Marysville girls in a preliminary game

Both Marysville teams are at a disadvantage of having lost star centers through graduation, Miss Kathryn Southard, four letter player, and Al Macken, chosen center of the First All District quintet last season.

Four of the players are back, showing up in good style, Wilcox, and Rump, forwards, and Capt. Mills and Simpson guards. McMahon, Bergandine and Rupright are jumping pretty even for center. Much will depend on their capability of filling Macken's place, who helped the Union county lass to win the Tecumseh League championship, and the Central Ohio Class B title. They were eliminated only in the semi-final by the Ohio Class B champions. The schedule follows:

Dec. 7, Kenton, at home; Dec. 14, Delaware at home; Dec. 19, Aquinas at Aquinas; Dec. 20, Sidney at home; Dec. 27, Columbus West at home; Dec. 28, Lancaster St. Mary's at Lancaster; Jan. 2, Aquinas at home; Jan. 11, Urbana at Urbana; Jan. 18, Bellefontaine at home; Jan. 19, Delaware at Delaware; Jan. 25, London at home; Feb 1, Urbana at home; Feb. 8, Bellefontaine at Bellefontaine; Feb. 15, London at London; Feb. 21, Bexley at Bexley, and Feb. 22, Lancaster St. Mary's at home.

Amount Will Affect Dog License Tax To Be Computed

Mt. Gilead, Dec. 5—The commissioners of Morrow county have allowed more than $1,000 in sheep claims presented to them. This is one of the largest amounts released on claims and will have a tendency to affect the dog license prices in this county. County officials think that the rates, which will be computed this month, will be somewhat higher for next year as the result of the heavy claims.

Only one claim was rejected by the commissioners, while nearly all were cut considerably. The commissioners allowed $2 per head more than the amount at which they were listed for taxation. Fifty cents and five cents a mile is the rate allowed for witnesses.

Officials of the office of County Auditor Ror Miller announced yesterday that the money allowed in the claims would not be available until the latter part of January and could not be secured until that time.

The largest amount was claimed J. S Appleman who will receive $112 for his sheep killed by dogs. Carrol Lloyd will receive the smallest amount, a check for $7. There were 40 claims presented and 39 allowed.

MARION MAN FILES SUIT FOR DAMAGES

Asks Settlement for Accident in Morrow County Court

Mt. Gilead, Dec. 5—Robert L. Ewers filed a petition for damages in the common pleas court here yesterday against Rufus Brown, seeking $90 as the result of an accident which occurred near Denmark several weeks ago on Sunday night. Ewers and his wife were returning to their home in Marion and were met by Brown and a companion who allegedly swerved their car across the road in such a manner that it struck and overturned the Ewers car and completely demolished the car.

The action was started in the J. P. Court of W. M. Kaufman, but was filed in the common pleas court yesterday.

Mellon Blames Speculation Fever for Halting U. S. Plan

GOVERNMENT HOPED TO CHECK BUYING

Secretary of Treasury Hits at Powerful Group of Speculators

MAKES ANNUAL REPORT

Carries No Forecast for Future Business, Volume Is Lower

Washington, Dec. 5—Activities of powerful groups of speculators, and the fact that the public in general acted as if the price of securities would indefinitely advance," defeated the government's campaign to halt the unprecedented wave of trading on the stock market, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon disclosed today in his annual report to congress.

For the first time Uncle Sam's financial chief, himself one of the big powers of the banking and industrial world, disclosed by implication at least, his attitude towards the speculative tide that is still in progress and outlined in detail just how the Federal Reserve System sought to curb it.

Mellon made no comment on the long-view results of speculation but did show that the government made a heroic effort to tighten the money market and that after gold started to flow outward seriously for the first time since the war, took no steps to counteract the credit effect.

The report took in the period from July 1, 1927 to June 30, 1928. It carried no forecast for future business, although Mellon has stated on a number of recent occasions that developments of the 1928 calendar year have been very satisfactory, that gains have been made by business, and that statistics indicate one of the most prosperous years in history.

Business Volume Lower

As to the business of the fiscal year Mellon said it fell to a low point in November and December and while there had been a substantial recovery after January, the total volume declined about three per cent. Automobile production was 12 per cent below the preceding fiscal year, although figures for June and July were 35 per cent greater than the same months of 1927. The automobile business was making an important comeback.

Federal Reserve Help

"It was the policy of the Federal Reserve system in the summer and early fall of 1927 to favor easier money conditions," Secretary Mellon said, in his outline of the stock market activities.

"The principal reasons were, first the European exchanges were weak, and unless money rates were eased in United States there might be a movement of funds into this country and a consequent necessity of raising rates abroad, to the disadvantage of American agriculture.

"Second, business in United States was in a period of decline and it was possible to foresee at hat time that industrial employment might occur in the winter months.

"It was believed that easier money would ameliorate such conditions. Thereupon the Federal reserve banks purchased securities in the open market. Money rates reached a low point in August.

"Gold exports began in the following month and the Federal Reserve banks continued to purchase securities to offset the unfavorable effects of such exports upon our money market.

"As it became apparent, first, that the objects of the policy originally adopted were being accomplished, and second, that speculation was growing the policy was reversed.

"From the middle of December onward the reserve banks stopped offsetting gold exports by the purchase of securities, and allowed gold exports to work their usual effects on the credit situation.

"In January the system went further. More than $100,000,000 of securities were sold. Between the latter part of the month and March 1, the discount rates of all the Federal Reserve banks were raised from 3½ to 4 per cent. The loss of gold export and the sale of securities forced the banks to increase their borrowing.

Increased Speculation

"However, the action taken early in the year unquestionably was not effective with reference to speculation, partly due to the activities of powerful groups of speculators, and partly due to the fact that the public in general believed and acted as if the price of securities would indefinitely advance.

"When it became apparent in March that repeated increases in credit were again taking place for speculative purposes the Federal Reserve System resumed its sale of securities, and discount rates were still further increased in April, May, June, July and August. The discount rate at all Federal Reserve banks was 4½ per cent. There were increases to five per cent, becoming effective from July 11 to August 1, in all reserve banks except those in Kansas City, Minneapolis, Dallas and San Francisco."

Mellon characterized these activities of the Federal Reserve system and the loss of about $500,000,000 in gold which brought the American stock to approximately $4,100,000,000 by June 30, as the outstanding financial developments of the year.

THEATER EMPLOYES NAME UNION HEADS

E. G. Obenour Elected President by Operators and Stage Hands

New officers of Marion local No. 398, Operators and Stage Hands union, were elected at a meeting held Monday night in the East Center st. hall.

The new officers are E. G. Obenour, president; C. F. Keeler, vice president; J. Fred Claget, treasurer and financial secretary; E. J. Griffith, recording secretary; L. Obenour, business agent; Nick Iler, sergeant-at-arms, and Harley C. Phelps, H. J. Seckel and R. S. Slagle, trustees.

Reports submitted by various officers showed the organization to be in good condition. The new officers will be installed Monday night, Jan. 7. The union meets the first Monday night of each month.

Action was taken at the meeting to close the charter indefinitely as membership now is as large as is desired by the union. The organization also took action to move its headquarters to the Central Labor Union hall on South Main st., where all future meetings will be held. The move will be made Jan. 1.

One of the features of the meeting following the business session was an educational talk by an international representative of the union. The speaker lauded the local organization for its activity and commended the individual members for their knowledge of their work.

Visitors attended the meeting from Washington D. C., Cleveland, Toledo, Mansfield, and Columbus.

Nine out of ten sales of new Century Hupmobiles are made when the buyer casts into the balance Hupmobile's known reputation for quality manufacture and engineering. For 20 years, motorists have come to Hupmobile for just these qualities—with all they imply in dependable, economical performance. Now, in the 1929 Century Six and Eight, they find these standards rigidly enforced, plus a new brilliance of style and beauty, new power, speed and getaway and the most modern advances in braking, steering and riding. We urge you to compare—point for point—the new Century models with any other cars on the market. Include Hupmobile reputation, and your decision will unquestionably be in favor of the Century's greatest values in the six and eight-cylinder fields.

Church and Athletics

ATHLETICS seem to have become a fixed part of the program of most churches and the religious institutions that have not followed the modern trend of affairs are extremely old fashioned.

In some places the old idea that the church is for religion only still prevails although in most places a special sport program has been added to the many social activities.

"Get the young people into the church" seems to be the aim now and all methods of obtaining their interest are being tried out. Various young people's societies have been formed giving nearly as much attention to the social or play side of life as to the religious part.

Build Recreation Centers

So athletics have taken hold of the church. In larger cities where new buildings are being erected, special provisions to take care of sport activities are being developed. Fully equipped gyms that can be converted into auditoriums for social gatherings have been constructed.

Development of youth into the four-square man—mentally, spiritually, morally and physically—is the prime motive of today's educational system. Slight one or more of these and a one-sided man is developed.

In the past athletics have been a drawing card in getting young men started into church work. The writer has seen Sunday School classes double in size through athletics when a basketball or recreation team was organized. And not all these new members were players on the team.

Whose Fault Is It?

THE usual argument that confronts exponents of church athletics is that athletes only come because some sport is being played and as soon as the season is over, they drop out. Perhaps this is true. But whose fault it is? After getting a boy started, a good teacher should have no trouble in holding his interest.

A number of Marion churches find it quite profitable to go in big for sports. In the winter time basketball can be played and during the summer recreation ball seems to be the favorite sport here. A number of other sports, both indoor and outdoor, could be adopted for the use of churches.

When a church enters athletics, a capable leader should be named. He ought to be a man well liked by the boys whose interest is not in producing good teams that win all games but toward building up the youth of the community.

The church cannot avoid the spiritual, moral and educational side. Why not add the fourth requisite for the full development of man?

Stand up for your rights and you can see over the heads of those who don't.

A JIM-DANDY NICKEL CIGAR

Made with Ripe Tobacco and Ripe Experience

When good tobacco and thirty years of cigar-making experience get together, you're pretty sure of a good smoke. But when combined in a cigar you can buy for a nickel, man, you've found something!

Here it is: Havana Ribbon. Value? Count back over the years—over the old-time purchasing power of a five-cent piece. Smoke a Havana Ribbon. You'll find your nickel buys a better cigar than it ever bought.

Sheer popularity has done it. Immense production enables the use of tobaccos usually considered too expensive for five-cent cigars. Havana Ribbon is made entirely of ripe tobacco — the choice middle leaves of the plant. No bitter under-ripe nor "flat" over-ripe leaves. Pure, fragrant, mellow-mild flavor of tobacco at its best. Long filler, too—no "cuttings" or short ends.

Also sold in Practical Pocket Packages of five cigars.

BLISS CAGERS FALL BEFORE ATTACK OF MARION, 22 TO 17

Taylor High Point Man of Game; Fair Sized Crowd Attends

REGISTERING a next victory the Marion Eagles last night opened the professional basketball season in Star auditorium by defeating the Bliss Collegians, 22 to 17.

It was a game that provided fans with plenty of thrills. The score was close throughout and both teams were evenly matched. Being the first contest of the season, the basket shooting of both teams was not so hot. But that will be come later.

Around 300 fans turned out for the contest, braving cold wind and rain to see the Eagles start what promises to be a successful season.

Taylor, the lanky Marion center from Muskingum college, lead both teams in scoring, chalking up three goals and a foul for a total of seven points.

Only Foreign Player

He is the only out-of-town man playing on the team this season and, although he has not obtained the range of the Star floor baskets, his shots last night showed why he won the high scoring honors in the Ohio Conference last season. Being six feet two, he had no trouble in obtaining the tipoff from Stewart, the Bliss pivot man. He was the fastest shot on the floor, his shooting being hard for his guard to stop.

Griffin, a former Marion Indy player, was high scorer of the collegians. He clipped through for two fielders and a like number of foul buckets for a six-point total.

The battle between Bacon, local guard, and the well known Bob Shea of the Columbus quintet, was one of the interesting features of the game. Shea is noted for his roughness but not last night. After getting two buckets in the first half he was held scoreless in the final period of the game. Bacon took care of the former Wesleyan flash in a fashion that was beautiful to see.

Contest Close

The contest was close throughout, with the Eagles never holding more than a five point lead. Taylor started the scoring with a field goal and the score was run up to four points before Stewart slipped through for the first Columbus bucket. Bliss then tied the score at four all and then took the lead with another basket. That was the only time in the game that the Collegians headed Marion. When the half ended the Eagles were leading 11 to 8.

After allowing Marion to get the first basket in the second half, Bliss tightened up his defense and soon tied the score at 13 all. Each team scored a basket keeping the count knotted all around and then the Eagles run up their score to 20 points. Bliss scored another basket and as the game ended Marion dropped another through the loop to finish the fray with a five point lead.

The lineups:

Eagles	TP.	Bliss	TP.
Bohyer, f	4	Griffin	6
Peary, f	5	Shea	4

TRADES SCARCE AT BALL MEET

Huggins Unable To Land Good Third Baseman for Yankee Club; Fireworks Scheduled To Get Under Way at Toronto Today

By DAVIS J. WALSH

TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 5—The annual convention of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues, an organization whose sole purpose is to afford the majors and minors an opportunity to scrap at each other under genteel auspices, will actually get under way today, after some 48 hours of preliminary shadow-boxing. With perfect gravity, it will go forward with the annual business of discussing the draft, which has been discussed from every conceivable angle these several years. With its customary sang froid, it will consider the things it always considers and do the things it always does, which mostly is nobody's business, including the N. A. P. B. Us.

With all due ceremony, the word will go forth that the baseball pot is boiling merrily regardless of the fact that the kettle may be empty and the fire low.

What this country needs in addition to a good five cent cigar, is a magnate who doesn't retire in haste behind the nearest potted fern in the lobby, and peer furtively out at his fellows every time the word trade is mentioned above a contralto octave. Miller Huggins has been in here 24 hours looking for a third baseman. He still is looking for a third baseman. He probably will go away looking for him. Mr. Huggins is the instigator-in-chief of the most fluent fountain pen in baseball, yet, if anybody is interested he has concealed the fact very doggedly and well.

Incidentally and strictly for the sake of clarity I made no ulterior reference to delegates in the above paragraph. It is the fern that is potted.

Anyhow, John McGraw is coming into town today and perhaps he will start something. John is a thoroughly experienced starter, his versatility being boundless. Stanley Harris and Frank Navin, of Detroit, are expected on the same train and probably will close their deal with the Toronto club for Johnny Prudhomme, pitcher, and Dale Alexander, first baseman. The Yanks are understood to have wanted both of them and will get neither.

Just who may be the third baseman sought by Huggins is a matter of much moment to the gossips. They say it isn't Buddy Myer, of the Boston Red Sox. In fact, the word is that the Boston-New York deal is off like a hat in church. They say it may be Ossie Bluege of the Senators and the name of Fred Haney, of Indianapolis, has been bandied about in a manner most indiscriminate however, it may be that Frederick will manage the Seattle club.

A deal between Detroit and Chicago, involving Harry Heilmann and Bob Falk also has been discussed at much length and in great detail by those who know nothing about it. Give the lads a little time and they will think up a lot of good ones. Anyway, they are all in there swinging and maybe somebody will forget to duck and lo, behold and other extraneous sounds and we will actually have a baseball trade.

As for the draft, the solution, if any seems to be a bit above and beyond the average member of the assemblage. The system is far from perfect, as it stands, but it will have to suffice until a better one is presented. This matter is something like Mrs. Mayourneen's young daughter Kathleen. It may take years and it may take forever. And maybe some genius hitherto hiding his light under a potted fern will spring from ambush with the answer today.

RUMOR BALTIMORE TEAM TO BE SOLD

Nick Allen and Bert Niehoff Being Considered for Louisville Job

Toronto, Ont., Dec. 5 — Rumors were in circulation at the annual convention of the National Association of Baseball leagues today that the Baltimore club of the International league was about to be sold. These could not be confirmed, but further word on the subject was that Fritz Maisel, former N. Y. Yankee, and an old Baltimore favorite, would be the new manager succeeding Jack Dunn, the owner manager, who died recently. Charles H. Knapp, president of the Orioles, at present is running the club in the interests of the Dunn heirs.

Other reports revolved around the Louisville club of the American Association, one story being that Nick Allen would take over its management, and another that Bert Niehoff would be the man. Niehoff, formerly with the Cincinnati Reds and Phillies, managed the Atlanta Crackers until recently. Allen has been an Association man since his playing days with the Reds.

GLASSGOW ELECTED 1929 GRID CAPTAIN AT IOWA

Iowa City, Ia., Dec. 5 — Willis Glassgow, 21-year-old halfback from Shenandoah, Iowa, and one of this season's outstanding stars on Western conference gridirons, today was being congratulated on his election as captain of next year's University of Iowa football team.

The new Hawkeye leader is but five feet, nine inches tall, and weighs only 160 pounds. He is also the regular shortstop on the varsity baseball nine.

OHIOANS GET LETTERS

Bethany, W. Va., Dec. 5—Among the 20 players awarded varsity football letters at Bethany college here today included seven Ohioans. They were Roy Price, Shelby, a senior; George Burwell, Ragland; James Imel, Cleveland Heights; Ballard Damschroder, Elmore; and Alton Behm, Madison; all juniors; and Malcolm Rush, Hanoverton, and John Latto, Uhrichsville, both sophomores.

OVERCOMING a one game lead, the King Lumber bowling quintet last night tied the Builders Supply team for first place honors in the All-Star bowling league.

The two-way race for first place was made possible through the victory of Jim Dugan's team over the Supply five. The clothiers took two out of three from the contractors while the lumbermen were taking the first two games from Midland Mutual.

Six hundred scores were taboo with Wells getting the high score of 605 pins. Dugan's rollers chalked up the high team score of 2755.

ARMY CONTEST TOPS SCHEDULE

1929 Battling Bishop Football Team To Play Nine Games; Leading Ohio Conference and All-Buckeye Elevens Complete Card

DELAWARE, Dec. 5—Games with Western Reserve and Heidelberg, scheduling of which has just been announced by Ohio Wesleyan athletic officials here, complete the Battling Bishop football schedule for 1929.

Heidelberg is to be played here Oct. 5, while Western Reserve will be played in Dunn Park, Cleveland. Reserve is to come to Delaware for a return game in 1930.

The gridiron top notchers of the Ohio conference and all the members of the Buckeye conference are included on the Ohio Wesleyan schedule which Coach George Gauthier has arranged. The Bishops will open their schedule by meeting on successive Saturdays the Marietta and Heidelberg teams, which tied for the mythical Ohio conference championship this season. Heidelberg was one of the dozen teams in the entire United States which finished their schedules undefeated, and Coach Herman Sayger will have his team practically intact for 1929.

Reserve, although rated below Marietta and Heidelberg in the Ohio conference percentage column, generally was conceded by sports writers to be the strongest team in the Ohio conference this year.

The powerful Army eleven will be the only team outside Ohio on the Bishops' 1929 gridiron schedule and will be met at West Point in the final game of the Bishops' season.

Ohio Wesleyan's 1929 schedule will be as follows:

Sept. 28—Marietta here.
Oct. 5—Heidelberg here.
Oct. 12—Ohio at Athens.
Oct. 19—Miami (Homecoming — Dedication Selby Field).
Oct. 26—Western Reserve at Cleveland.
Nov. 2—Denison at Granville.
Nov. 9—Wittenberg at Springfield.
Nov. 16—Cincinnatai (Dads Day).
Nov. 23—Army at West Point.

AMERICAN, NATIONAL LEAGUES CUT TWO WEEKS OFF SEASON

Teams Hope To Avoid Inclement Weather with New Plan

TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 5— Major league baseball will open its season a week later this coming year and finish it a week earlier in order to avoid the inclement weather that has beset it in the past.

John A. Heydler, president of the National league, made this announcement after a conference with President E. S. Barnard of the American league while delegates were awaiting the opening of the convention of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues today.

It was definitely settled, Heydler said, that the season would open on Tuesday, April 16, and close on Sept. 20. Heydler also declared that several of his club owners had held out for the old starting and finishing dates but had been persuaded to attempt the innovation.

WALLACE WINS

Cleveland, Dec. 5—The much-talked-hooed grudge fight between Billy Wallace and Johnny Farr, local lightweights, proved a bit monotonous when the two met here last night. Wallace taking the decision at the end of 10 rounds. Wallace, who formerly made his rustic headquarters in California, Alaska and other distant points, took all but the third round.

If a man speaks without thinking he is likely to say what he thinks.

Rumor Split-up in Radio As Stock Advances Eight Points

SPECULATIVE FEVER CONTINUES TO DROP

Tightening of Money Market Forces Good Volume of Selling

MONEY SCARCE

Renewal Call Rate Expected To Reach 10 Per Cent Before Close

BULLETIN

New York, Dec. 5—Radio Corporation stock the sensation of the market took the center of the stage again today as rumors of unrealized prospects for the corporation flitted through Wall Street, and the stock climbed to a new high record of $120 a share while most of the industrial favorites were dropping to lower price levels.

BY W. S. COUSINS
I. N. S. Financial Editor

New York, Dec. 5—Radios skyrocketing tactics carried that speculative favorite another 8 points to 116 at the beginning of trading today as Wall Street buzzed with rumors about a split-up in the shares and other interesting developments about the corporation. This week Radio Corporation opened its wireless telephone communication to Cuba, on a commercial basis, thus extending its field of commercial service.

The market wobbled unsteadily through the first half hour of ups and downs in industrial stock prices. Sales of 662,100 shares up to 10:30 a. m. represented the smallest half-hour's turnover since the big flurry markets started on the day after election. This was only half as much as in last week's 6,000,000 share markets, and showed plainly in important circles that the fever of world wide speculation was cooling off somewhat.

Tightening up of the money market forced out a good volume of selling of the investment stocks of the motor car, copper, oil and industrial companies which have played an important part in the furious upswing of prices in the last few weeks. The renewal call loan rate was 9 per cent with none too much available at that rate, and a 10 per cent charge a possibility before the end of the day.

OLDEST LIVING COUPLE MARRIED FOR 89 YEARS

Belgrade—Demetrius Dimovcic and his wife, Zivana, have more than two centuries between them. They are believed to be the oldest living married couple in the world. They were already married and living in the little Serbian village near Soulin as far back as 1839. Demetrius was then over 21 and, his wife a few years younger.

They have lived together for 89 years and have a large number of grandchildren and great grandchildren. Both are in fine health and can use all of their faculties. Demetrius owes much of it to his temperance. He has never smoked nor taken spirits. From time to time he drinks a good glass of wine, but the last one was over 30 years ago.

TODAY'S REVIEW OF YESTERDAY'S MARKET

Chicago Dec 5—After a session featured only by dullness of trade and a narrow price range, what ruled with a late bulge in corn and finished moderately lower. Considering the bearish interpretation of the news, persistent Northwest selling and weak foreign markets, local prices were well maintained.

Corn was also lower in the early trading on selling because of colder weather forecast. Strength in southwestern cash markets along with reports that they were doing export business led to a closing rally.

What at the close was 1-4@3-8c lower, corn was 1-8c lower to 3-8c higher, oats were 1-8@1-4c higher, and rye was steady to 1-2c lower. Winnipeg futures closed 3-8c lower to 1-4c higher.

Liverpool Weak

Liverpool was weak again under the free Argentine offerings and closed 1-2@3-4c lower. Broomhall says the offerings from Argentina are being made at lower prices because of the expected keen rivalry between Canada and the South American country in securing foreign outlets for their surpluses.

Additional bearish news was found in the ample protection of Winter wheat in the United States by a heavy blanket of snow, more favorable weather in Argentina and good conditions of foreign crops as revealed by Broomhall's summary.

A good class of buying which supported the market on all the dips yesterday may have been due to several bullish factors which were in the news. Of these, the one that attracted the most attention was the reputation in advices from New York of the belief that a good volume of export business is continuing under cover.

However, the buying was only sufficient to support the market and failed to follow the bulges, as lower prices brought free offerings from the Northwest and from Duluth. Word that the McNary-Haugen bill had been introduced in changed form in the senate appeared to create little interest.

Shorts Nervous

While there seems to be little of the present time to suggest a sustained upward movement of wheat, shorts are more nervous owing to the ability of the market to withstand persistent selling and hedging. This has caused a friendlier feeling toward the constructive side, with a growing belief that a technical upturn may result which would, following recently in an oversold market replace the short interest at a higher level.

Despite the light receipts, heavier shipments and light country offerings, the corn market started lower, mainly on local selling. This was based largely on the prospects for colder weather and on reports of cancellations of export purchases. Later a message from St. Louis said that cash houses there were selling corn right along for export and with a steady cash market here and at the Southwest exchanges, there was a good rally.

All of the indications point to the fact that demand is keeping up at a pace near enough to that of offerings so that stocks will have little chance to pile up. Viewed from the angle that there is but little more corn on hand than a year ago, with prospects of a larger foreign demand and an equal domestic consumptive demand with prices the lower, the corn situation appears tight. This seems to be reflected in the steadiness of the futures market.

After the close of trading another item on export was received. Sentiboard reported sales of 80,000 bu of corn for export.

Deliveries on December contracts yesterday were: Wheat, 460,000 bu; corn 48,000 bu, oats none, rye 150,000 bu.

It is disconcerting to meet a man who, you can see, is putting into operation his machinery for being genial.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Business is slow in retail produce markets of the city these days and the weatherman is getting the blame for it all. Naturally, when sales are small in the retail markets, similar conditions prevail on the wholesale markets so that the weather is receiving blame from that quarter also.

Changeable weather ordinarily means changeable business, according to local retailers of fruits, vegetables and meats.

Sales have been below normal all through that period, but as the temperature went down, sales went up, only more gradually, and vice versa. The trouble is that the mercury has shown no lasting affection for the bottom of the tube.

Retailers and wholesalers of the city as a whole are hoping and some few no doubt are praying, that the cold snap that arrived this morning will last. They expect sales to increase in proportion to the length of time that the cold remains and the length of the drop it takes.

Only one price change was reported by retailers here this morning. Shallots, formerly sold at 10 cents a bunch and three bunches for 25 cents, rose to 10 cents a bunch straight.

UNCLE EVERETT, HERE'S A LITTLE CHRISTMAS PRESENT FOR YOU FROM ME! IT ISN'T MUCH, BUT I HOPE YOU'LL LIKE IT!
THANK YOU A THOUSAND TIMES, CASPER! IT'S THE SENTIMENT OF THE GIFT, AND NOT ITS VALUE, THAT I APPRECIATE!
CASPER GAVE ME THIS PRETTY NECK-TIE FOR CHRISTMAS, TOOTS! IT WAS SO THOUGHTFUL OF HIM!
HE LIKES YOU SO MUCH, UNCLE!
WHAT ARE YOU RUSHING THE SEASON FOR, CASPER? WHY GIVE UNCLE HIS PRESENT SO SOON? NEXT YEAR I SUPPOSE YOU'LL GIVE HIM HIS CHRISTMAS PRESENT ON THE FOURTH OF JULY!
I USE MY NOODLE IN EVERYTHING I DO, TOOTS! NOW I'VE PUT HIM UNDER OBLIGATIONS TO ME! I'M EXPECTING A SWELL PRESENT FROM HIM IN RETURN! IT WAS MY WAY OF REMINDING HIM NOT TO FORGET HIS LITTLE NEPHEW ON CHRISTMAS!
JIMMY MURPHY - 12-5.

JERRY ON THE JOB — A GLUTTON FOR PUNISHMENT — BY HOBAN

OF COURSE YOU WANT TO RISE IN YOUR PROFESSION. BUT YOU MUST STUDY - GET A LOT OF BOOKS ON RAILROADING AND SOAK UP SOME INFORMATION - FIGURES. STATISTICS. THAT'S WHAT YOU NEED.
THERE MAY BE A LOT OF TRUTH IN WHAT YOU SAY.
GOSH - IMAGINE THIS! A MAN GETS BANGED BY A TRAIN 3262 TIMES EVERY WEEK.
IT DOESN'T SAY IF THAT'S A SIX DAY WEEK OR A SEVEN DAY WEEK - NO MATTER.
HE MUST GET AWFUL SICK OF IT ALONG ABOUT THURSDAY.

HONEST AND WISE

That's How Woman Explorer Finds Arabs

Vienna—Miss Julia Wagner-Jauregg, daughter of the world famous Vienna scientist Prof Julius Wagner-Pauregg winner of last year's medical Nobel prize, is back in Vienna, after leading a hazardous expedition into the heart of the Sahara desert

The pretty young girl explorer brought with her interesting data concerning the habitation and customs of the Arab tribes in the Algerian Sahara Her camel-caravan proceeded through regions where no European women and but very few men had set foot before She learned to talk and to understand the nomads of the desert and she found them so honest and wise that she decided to return to them every year for a few months

She has built a small house in the oasis El Golea, the paradise a dense and tall date plantation inhabited by the noblest and wisest Arabs Miss Julia met during her wanderings Although fanatical followers of the great Prophet, their women enjoy more freedom, than those of any other Moslem tribe

Miss Julia intends to publish a book on her adventurous life in "The Parades," in the near future
